30 Witnesses Questioned in Cafeteria Quiz

Members of the Upper Perkiomen jointure went neatly attired into an executive board investigation Wednesday night.

Four hours later they came out with jackets off, ties askew, shirt sleeves rolled up and several members asking not for answers, but for aspirins.

The prolonged probe was into alleged mismanagement of the jointure's cafeteria.

All seven boardmen sat at an oblong table, with president Albert Orthaus at the head. Thirty witnesses sat in three rows of "bleachers" alongside the table.

Interrogation was by Raymond Pearlstine, school board solicitor. The press was baned.

TESTIMONY CAME from present and past cafeteria workers. All but one employe, Mrs. Katie I. Kindt, East Greenville attended the inquest.

Mrs. Kindt sent a letter to the board stating that a prior commitment made it impossible for her to attend Wednesday night. She stated, however, that she will appear before the examiners at another date, if they wish.

See Editorial, 'Whose Goverment is it, Anyway,' on Page 4.

The Mercury disclosed Tuesday that the district attorney also was investigating cafeteria problems in the Upper Perkiomen.

Wednesday it was revealed that a former district attorney is representing Mrs. Margaret Yoder, cafeteria supervisor.

Frederick Smillie, former district attorney, walked out of Wednesday's hush-hush probe, admitted he was acting in behalf of Mrs. Yoder but only added to conjecture about the whole affair by declaring, "This is an executive session and so is secret. Any news must come

TWO HOMES ARE STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

Separate Bolts Ignite Both Dwellings

Two area homes were damaged by fire after being struck by lightning during the second of two severe storms that hit early Wednesday morning.

The first fire occurred in the home of Lewis Webber, Stone road, Barto RD, shortly after 7 a. m. Webber reported that the lightning struck the electric meter attached to the rear of the house, and within seconds burned out all the main wires in the two story brick home.

The back wall was also scorched by the flames in the meter. "It wasn't the damage as much as the frightening experience," Webber explained. "We were sleeping, and suddenly the whole world seemed to explode."

The second lightning-started fire about 45 minutes later at the home of Reuben Updegrove, Bechtelsville RD 1, caused the same reaction to the clap of thunder and flash of lightning.

MRS. UPDEGROVE reported thunder awakened her, "just in time to be terrified by the lightning hitting." Her mother,

Heavy Rain Causes Damage to Crops; Fair Weather Is Forecast for Today

Heavy rains in the Pottstown area Wednesday totaled 1.5 inches and caused damage to hay crops.

Most of the rain fell during the early hours in three showers from 5:30 to 9 o'clock. Then again at 3 p. m. showers brought .40 inch of rain. A heavy shower occurred in the east end of Pottstown at 2:15 p. m. but skirted the business section.

Harry Bickel, a Kenilworth farmer, said that all the mowed hay was a total loss because of the rain Tuesday and Wednesday. "The hay is so stiff and bleached it's not even good for straw," he said.

Gerald L. Kulp, East Coventry township, said much of the wheat and barley crops have been knocked down.

Dedication Fete Forced Indoors By Heavy Rain

Because "no one would slog through mud in Sanatoga just to see a hole in the ground," the dedication of underground telephone headquarters were conducted indoors Wednesday.

Rain prevented the original plan to dedicate the Bell Telephone facility by having dignitaries tour the excavation and pour concrete into a hole, 24 feet deep and 125 by 145 feet around.

The single story building that will be completely underground will be the nation's first for Bell Telephone company.

It will be part of a transcontinental system of telephone and possibly television cables. Similar underground units will be built 125 miles apart in the route across America, said Clarence Jacobsen, district plant superintendent from Wayne.

He said the Sanatoga building will be finished by Winter and the nation wide setup will be in service by mid 1961.

Thirty persons from Lower Pottsgrove and from Pottstown attended the indoor ceremony in Lakeside Inn, Limerick. The guests included government, school, police and fire company officials.

Telephone Call Results in Theft

Someone called Morris Sandler on the 'phone Wednesday and asked to speak to a neighbor.

Sandler left his paint shop at 437 High street, but found the neighbor not home.

When he returned to his store he also found $50 was gone. The incident occurred at 3:30 p. m.

Truck Shattered by Train

Two area residents look at the wreckage of the truck that was rammed Wednesday killing its driver. Local Man Marks 50 Years Of Building, Shipping Steel

A Pottstonian who has played a major role in building the United States as a nation of steel will round out 50 years of service with the local branch of the Bethlehem Steel company in two weeks.

It was on July 1, 1910, that Floyd E. (Chick) Seeders started with the McClintic-Marshall company, Pottstown predecessor to Bethlehem.

He rose steadily with both companies.

If it takes a certain type of genius to build a bridge, it must also take a category of genius to ship the cumbersome and heavy steel for the bridge 3000 miles, as needed and on schedule. That is Seeders' particular art, and he practices it for one of the two largest manufacturers of fabricated steel in the country.

THE BETHLEHEM yardmaster estimates he has shipped more than 7,000,000 tons of steel in his time on the job.

The shipments have included steel for the Golden Gate bridge, California; the George Washington Memorial bridge, New York City; the San Francisco-Oakland bridge; the Chesapeake Bay bridge, near Baltimore; the Walt Whitman Memorial bridge, Philadelphia, and many others.

Many shipments also have gone out of his yards for some of the biggest skyscrapers and express highways in the nation.

The problem of moving the

tremendous tonnage of steel in and out of the sprawling plant involves unloading, loading and then tracing to their destination more than 1000 railroad cars each month.

Each car carries an average of between 20 and 75 tons of steel, according to the size and shape of the finished product.

A MAN of medium build who looks considerably younger than his 68 years, Seeders loves his work.

Said he, "I am in an industry that is of great value to the country. There's great satisfaction in that."

Seeders has not missed a day of work for "at least 25 years," and he counts this application to his work as a major factor in staying alert and capable. He also explained, "I keep active socially and mix with people, young and old."

A life-long resident of Pottstown, Seeders has been active in many fraternal and civic organizations.

One house, worth $11,500, will be the start of an 18-house development on North Warren street, north of Wilson street.

The project is expected to start this Summer and will be built by Elmer M. Erb, Pottstown Route 18.

The first home will be for Albert Yannessa, 407 Beech street.

Harry T. Gresh, Boyertown contractor, will erect a Cape Cod type home at 1534 Cherry lane. The home will be worth $13,500.

Hear Them Shout! School Is Out!

All area schools except for Pottstown were closed by Wednesday finishing out the nine months of school.

Pottstown schools will close tomorrow. St. Pius High school wound up the school year with a Mass and assembly to give out honor and perfect attendance cards and St. Peter's school pupils attended an outing at Palladino grove.

Today a picnic will be conducted at Montgomery park for pupils of St. Aloysius school.

Another 'Big' Lucky Buck Is Discovered

A Lucky Buck worth $25 Wednesday was cashed by Mrs. Donald S. Mourar, 445 Belmont street.

Mrs. Mourar also won a Lucky Buck in 1953. "The first one was worth $10 and now I hit for $25. Lucky Bucks sure are treating me well," declared Mrs. Mourar, whose husband works at Doehler-Jarvis division.

The latest luck for Mrs. Mourar came after she purchased shoes at Paul's Bootery, 315 High street. The dollar bill worth $25 was in change she received from a clerk.

West Pottsgrove Okays Lower Real Estate Tax

An eight mill drop in real estate taxes for West Pottsgrove township was authorized Wednesday night when the township school board met at the West Pottsgrove High school.

The board set the levy at 37 mills in adopting a budget of $305,380 for the 1960-61 school year. Adoption of the budget came after minor revisions from the advertised figures were approved.

The lower real estate tax is expected to yield slightly more than the 45 mill rate of the 1959-60 school year because it will be based on a higher township assessment determined by Montgomery county authorities.

The tax is expected to produce $131,430. Previously advertised receipts on 45 mills was $145,843, for this year.

OTHER TAXES adopted were: $10 per capita on residents 21 years old or over, expected to yield $18,500; $5 personal on residents 21 or over, expected to yield $9250; 100 mills occupation tax on residents 21 or over, $19,000; and half of 1 percent of real estate transfer, $1200. The township road board shares the transfer tax with the school district.

The budget includes the following items: $249, 250 to the Pottsgrove Joint district for teachers salaries, supplies, heating, buses, etc.; $46,995 for debt service (retirement of bonds, etc.); $9060 for general control (tax collector's commission, secretary's and treasurer's salaries, etc.); $75 for fixed charges (Social Security payments).

The board approved a bond for the treasurer in the amount of $5000 at a cost of $37.50 for the year.

Approval was given to a lease agreement with the Pottsgrove Joint School authority to borrow $90,000 for conversion of the West Pottsgrove High school into an elementary school.

THE AGREEMENT will place use of the school with the joint district and calls for repayment of the loan by a bond issue to be secured later in connection with construction of a new elementary school.

The board approved payment of bills totaling $3994, leaving a balance on had of $1989 for the end of the school year.

It was reported that the district may expect approximately $10,000 to be returned from the joint district, representing the West Pottsgrove share of a surplus year-end balance in the Pottsgrove jointure.

DIESEL HITS VICTIM AT CROSSING

Accident Occurs at Squirrel Hollow Road

ENGINEER UNABLE TO STOP IN TIME

The railroad crossing at Squirrel Hollow road, three miles west of Pottstown, claimed its second victim in a little over three years Wednesday.

A 36 year old laborer died at the Pottstown hospital at 4:23 p. m. after a truck he was driving was struck and demolished an hour earlier by a Pennsylvania railroad diesel engine.

Charles Good, 501 Spruce street, an employe of Arthur J. Peroni brick and masonry contractors, was driving north on the road between the Old Reading pike and Route 422, when the engine, traveling west, rammed broadside into the truck. The engine was heading for Reading from Philadelphia.

According to hospital officials, Mr. Good had a fractured skull, both arms fractured and internal injuries. He was thrown from the cab of the truck which was dragged some 100 feet before coming to rest at the side of the tracks.

A FEW YARDS away from the Pennsylvania tracks are the Reading railroad tracks, where on March 8, 1957, 20 year old Shirley Aul of Kulptown, was killed and Charles E. Templin, justice of the peace of Douglass township, was critically injured when a Reading passenger train collided with the car. Templin lingered in a state of semi-consciousness for a week before recovering.

Joining City's Sewer System Saved Township Tax Dollars

(Editor's Note: This is the seventh in a series of articles on multitown sewage systems. It tells how one of the many areas has answered the sewage disposal problem by farsighted planning.)

Muhlenberg township is typical of the seven communities that have signed agreements with the State's fifth largest city for the disposal of sewage.

And in each case the community's reason for joining with Reading rather than building an individual system has been the same: "It's the most economically feasible way of providing good sewage service."

Muhlenberg township is a community of 12,500 contiguous to Reading on the south. The community has tripled in population since the 1950 census and expects to double again by the 1970 census.

The population influx began after the end of World War II, and by 1950 the community increased to the size where sewage disposal other than by cesspools and septic tanks was a necessity.

IN THAT year the township supervisors applied for a Federal grant for the study of the entire sewage problem in regards to the expected continued growth of the community. The survey came back early in 1951 with a recommendation that the township tie in with the Reading sewage system which was established in 1899.

The project went no further and the report gathered dust for the next five years while costs rose and the sewage problem became more acute.

Elmer Manwiller, secretary-treasurer of the volunteer authority which also managed the township water system, explained that "there was no reason why the report was never followed out at that time. It just never seemed to get off the ground."

In 1956 the supervisors again ordered a study of the sewage problems. But this

Three In Gang Held for Court On Two Charges

Three area men were held for court Wednesday on charges of burglary and firearms violations.

Separate hearings were before Justice of the Peace Raymond C. Kelley. Sent to county prison were Sherbon Fetter, Sunnybrook road, Lower Pottsgrove; Robert Castrinoes, 344 Jefferson avenue, and John Sullivan, St. Peters.

Gilbertsville Police Chief Linwood C. Johnson testified that the trio attempted burglary in his community early last Sunday. He said Castrinoes broke a window at a gasoline station by using a .22 caliber pistol.

The group fled without stealing anything, but their auto was identified.

Arrests were made the next day in Pottstown and a .22 pistol was found in Sullivan's car.

The gang was ordered held without bail on the burglary charge and held in default of $500 bail apiece on the firearms violation.

A fourth member of the gang, Norman Mauger, 55 King street, earlier was sent to county juvenile authorities.

Rooftop Burglar Held for Court Without Bail

George L. Moser, a rooftop burglar nabbed Tuesday, was sent to county prison Wednesday.

Moser, Spring City RD 1, had two hearings before Justice of the Peace Raymond C. Kelley. Kelley ordered the 26 year old suspect be held for court on charges of burglary and attempted burglary.

Moser was arrested under the glare of a spotlight and under threats of being shot by Pottstown police. He was caught Tuesday night atop Milton's Youth center, 221 High street. He was hiding behind a chimney when police arrived.

Testimony against him was given by Det. Sgt. John Kirlin. Kirlin said their was evidence that Moser pried open a trap door atop the Cole Tobacco company, 219 High street.

MOSER COULDN'T produce $1000 bail and was ordered to prison.

At his second hearing he was also ordered to prison but without the chance of bail. That was for allegedly stealing $39 from the Highway bar and restaurant, Limerick.

State trooper Metro Kardash, Jeffersonville barracks, testified that Moser illegally entered the bar last Sunday.

Moser admits to other burglaries and detainers against him, to keep him for trial, were filed for two breakins in Phoenixville and a third in Spring City. Most of those thefts were recovered by Pottstown police.

HE JOINED the McClintic-Marshall company as a checker a month after graduating from Pottstown High in 1910. Within four years he was made a foreman of a yard.

By the end of 1918, Seeders found himself superintendent of three receiving yards. His duties were increased in 1947 when he became yardmaster and traffic representative for the plant.

His tenure has included work under four managers. They were George Knopf, F. T. Cadmus and H. L. Williams, both deceased, and the present head, H. G. Neyenesch.

Seeder's first wife, the former Edna P. Steffey, Linfield, died in 1954. He married his present wife, the former Helen E. Feldman, of Pottstown, in 1955.

The inevitable question of retirement brings a grin to Seeder's face, but he is tight-lipped about the subject.

"All I'm saying about that is, it won't be this year," he stated.

The gentleman is a man of culture, a man of refinement, above all an honest man; possessing that good taste which is the conscience of the mind; conscience which is the good taste of the soul. — (James Russell Lowell)

Whose Government Is It, Anyway?

THERE still are too many closed doors in government circles—small and large.

Too much is going on that the public ought to know about but doesn't.

There's too much secrecy in public places.

Several cases of this hush-hush policy have been exposed to pubilc view in the past few days.

First there was an attempt in North Coventry township to gag public officials by a suggestion that no public utterances be made unless such statements were approved by the sewer authority.

This was quickly squashed, without action, when one of the commissioners, Raymond D. Kohler, stoutly declared: "As long as it's a free country, I'll say what I want to."

Silence followed that courageous action. But the impact was there. Who would dare challenge a man's right to freedom of speech?

A second blow against the people's right to know was a secret session of Upper Perkiomen jointure school directors and cafeteria employes Wednesday night.

The meeting resulted after a series of wild and unconfirmed rumors swept the Upper Perkiomen section. This secret meeting probably added fuel to the rumor-fire.

Any statement to be issued by public officials after this meeting probably will be looked upon as a whitewash report. For taxpayers will know their eyes and ears—the press—was barred from this meeting.

The secret session, according to Principal Stanley M. Kurtz, was "ordered closed to the public and press by order of Raymond Pearlstine, jointure solicitor."

The secrecy policy was unfortunate, in that the reputations of valued school employes stood to be sullied by insinuations and other charges.

People are more apt and willing to believe evil than the truth. This is a human weakness. It is more than likely that none of the reports bruited about in the Upper Perkiomen territory approaches the truth. At least many hope their public servants are beyond suspicion.

But secret hearings breed more bad tidings. People want to know what government officials have to hide. They conjure up all sorts of weird gossip. And the smaller the community, the more injurious the whispers.

It would be better for good public relations if the press and public were invited to such hearings. If the public cannot attend, it delegates its attendance to the press, which gives a complete and unbiased report of the happenings.

It is the firm opinion of this newspaper that the greatest deterrent to evil is the spotlight of publicity. If wrong doing is revealed, the public should know, and conditions should be changed. If spotless records are upheld, this too should be given widespread publicity and the contentions of the innocent vindicated.

Honest public officials have no reason to fear publicity. They should be the first to want unfair charges brought out into the open, because they know insinuations breed only in the darkness of secrecy.

Too often public officials bring disrepute on their own heads by their efforts to keep the public uninformed. Too many public officials look on government as their own special province and the public as outsiders.

They distrust the press because they fear adverse publicity might reflect on their characters. But the press and the public knows public officials are human, they are not infallible. They will make mistakes. But their good deeds outweight their mistakes, and the public is willing to forgive.

But to transact business in star chamber sessions, behind closed doors, in secret places is distasteful in our concept of democracy.

Such secret sessions breed distrust. So pubilc officials who perform this way are mistrusted by their constituents.

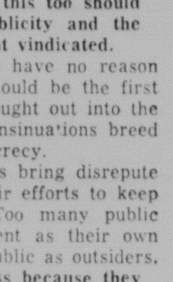

Open sessions, complete reporting will kill rumors, bring honor to those conscientious elected officials who wish to uphold their public trust.

Men Have All the Fun, Woman Says

Who's the Boss?

To the Editor: I read a letter in "Readers Say" where somebody suggested a "Stay at Home One Night A Week Club". ("For Men and Women," Readers Say, June 9).

Wish that was my problem. You see, my husband takes me out every weekend, but it is to his old club and poker game. I sit at home most of the time while my husband plays poker.

I am tired of it. He takes off when he wants to go somewhere. He doesn't ask and wants no back talk, he says. When I want to go, he says, no money, you can't go.

I'm 32, he is 35. We have four children. I'm ready to take off.

Has any man the right to think he is the head of the house because he works for the pay? Doesn't the woman work too, bearing the children, raising them plus the housework? Or what is the woman for today? Somebody to get married to and right away she starts a life of stay at home while the husband can run around and do as he pleases? Buy drinks for other women, look at other women and then tell his wife at home the pretty girl he saw and her size and shape.

God help those men. They are great sinners. They should not ask the Lord for help if they can't put temptation out of their heads now. Why men sin, God alone someday will judge.

Let the wife go some place too once in a while and trust her. She won't do any more than you did, that's what you should think of. If you can be trusted, so then your feelings should go to your wife for trust. Judge her only by yourself.

Some women are like men, but the good ones should not suffer for the bad women.

What should a woman do whose husband goes away alone whenever he wants to?

Do We Need Draft?

To the Editor: Our selective service system, for the sake of the few men we now need to draft, sure messes up the lives of most all young men.

Most of our men now in the service have enlisted voluntarily.

With just a bit more effort, voluntary enlistments could be sold on their own merits and selective service could be put in mothballs.

Then youths could be free to plan their own lives and make their own plans for military training.

Farmers' Side of Story

To the Editor: This is in answer to some of the articles regarding the farm surplus. The following situation is just a part of the complex problem facing farmers.

According to the department of agriculture, we imported over four billion dollars work of agricultural commodities in 1959. These imported commodities include over 1,300,000,000 pounds of beef and over 200 million pounds of pork, along with over 45 million dollars worth of feed grains.

If the farmers of the United States could have fed about 4 million more cattle and raised about 1,500,000 more hogs, instead of importing them, we would not have had a surplus of corn; the price of corn would be $1.40 a bushel instead of $1 as it is now; we would not need a support price or soil bank program or pay 16 cents per bushel for storing the surplus corn.

If this would have been true, we would use about 500 million more bushels of corn each year than we do now. There would be no surplus of corn disregarding the 250 million bushels that must be kept on reserve. Imagine the amount of money that could be saved!

There are many complaints about subsidizing the farmer but not a word is said about all the other businesses that are being subsidized. We have about 26 billion dollars worth of surplus military equipment being liquidated now at the rate of a few cents on a dollar. This is only one example of our nation's existing surplus commodities. Still, the farmers are always blamed for the problem.

Time We Learn

To the Editor: As Presidents Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower all came off second best in "deals" with the Soviets, we would be foolish to consider for President any men who propose going on making deals with the Reds.

It is time we learned the Communists meant it when they said they never intend keeping any agreements not to their advantage.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

PATTY M., aged 9, is an only child.

"Dr. Crane, we need your advice," her daddy began.

"For we have a serious problem with Patty. She is terrified at the very thought of sleeping in her own bedroom.

"She says she is scared of the dark. So we'd like to know how we can cure her fear of her unlighted bedroom.

"She has always slept in our bedroom since babyhood, because she cried and grew hysterical if she tried to sleep alone."

Dr. John B. Watson's extensive research with newborn babies showed only two natural causes for fear, namely, loud noises and falling.

All other fears that we possess, therefore, must be learned. We acquire our fear of the dark because of stories about ghosts or robbers or the suggestion that somebody will jump out and yell "Boo".

OR WE feel shut off from our loved ones and very much alone. For darkness produces a feeling of introversion. Extroverts are especially hostile to darkness.

So are people with guilty consciences, for when they cannot keep their attention on outside visual objects, they begin to think of their own sins and then worry.

Because we may bump into objects in the dark and hurt our shins, there is a certain amount of caution that ultimately develops with reference to darkness, even if we do not fear ghosts or robbers.

But a child can be "conditioned" favorably to the dark by various methods. To start the process, tell him that rabbits and other small animals do their romping and eating at night, for the hawks can't see them.

DARKNESS IS thus God's protection for the little furry creatures. It gives them their chance to live and work in reasonable safety, just as our war blackouts used to protect the lives of people from hostile bombing.

You can also play games with your child at night, such as hide-and-seek. At first, let him hide in his bedroom closet with all lights on and the doors open.

Next, let him do so with doors shut but lights on. Finally do so with lights out and doors closed.

His delight in fooling you, as you affect perplexity in trying to find him, will soon attach to the darkened room, and make him feel more pleased in the unlighted bedroom thereafter.

Children also like to have companions with them in bed, even of the toy variety. So let them have a doll or wooly lamb or cloth monkey to sleep beside them. Or even a real dog.

Inside Television

By EVE STARR

STARR REPORT: "How Tall is a Giant?" NBS's special 90-minute documentary aired Tuesday brought viewers the exciting, unusual story of the Monterry street urchins who won the Little League World Series in 1957.

These kids, as their counterparts in slums the world over, "had nothing to do." Their futures held little but poverty, poor health and delinquency.

Then Cesar Faz, a Monterrey businessman, born and raised in the United States and Harold "Lucky" Haskins, an American teacher in Monterrey's Pan-American school, set out to do something constructive for the "chamacos."

They obtained a Little League franchise for Monterrey, organized the children and chose and trained the team that has since become famous in the United States and Mexico.

HERE IS an inspired and heartwarming story that should appeal to all age groups. The cast was composed of the players themselves, their parents, relatives and the citizens large and small of both the U. S. and Mexico.

The coach and manager also played themselves, and are so natural that they have been offered other acting jobs, which they turned down with "thanks—but no thanks!"

NBC gave a few of the press a special screening of the film and brought us up to date with some interesting facts.

MONTERREY three years ago was devoid of baseball and ballparks for kids; now there are teams playing in four stadia constructed by the city and national governments.

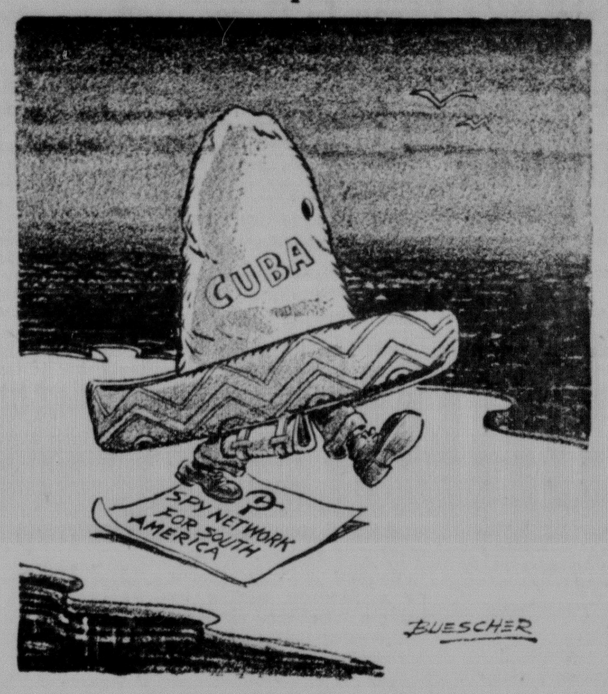

Another little league team from the city also won the Little league World Series in 1958, and a Pony league team finished third in the 1959 Pony championships.

Juvenile delinquency, once a paramount problem here, has been all but eradicated.

Monterrey's 12 "wonder kids" of 1957 are maintaining excellent grades in private schools through scholarships, and their star pitcher, Angel Macias, has a major league "bonus" contract waiting for him when he turns 18.

These are just a few of the many wonderful things that have happened to a town — all because two fine men, Cesar Faz and "Lucky" Haskins cared about children. Everybody in town has benefited.

House Group Okays Home Loan Bill

By JERRY T. BAULCH
Associated Press Observer

The House Banking Committee approved Wednesday a $1,365,000,000 housing bill which would authorize elimination of down payments on FHA home loans up to $13,500 and reduce the down payment on more expensive homes.

The aim, proponents said, is to encourage the building and buying of homes and help the sagging home-building industry.

The measure contains loan and grant provisions similiar to the $1,381,500,000 omnibus bill approved Tuesday by the Senate Banking Committee.

However, both bills face a possible veto if either is passed by Congress since they far exceed what President Eisenhower asked and include provisions the administration has opposed outright. Eisenhower last year vetoed two housing measures and finally signed a less costly version.

The House committee vote Wednesday was 19-2, with one member abstaining. Committee sources said two Republicans cast the negative votes and three Republicans joined 16 Democrats in approving it.

In addition to reducing the down payment on home loans guaranteed by the Federal Housing Administration, the bill would raise the maximum loans for a single family dwelling to $25,009 from the current $22,500.

At present, down payments are required on all FHA loans—3 per cent up to $13,500; 10 per cent for the next $4,500, and 30 per cent for amounts over $18,000.

The committee acted at almost the same time the FHA reported an unexpected drop during May in the number of new homes started with federal financing. The total of 22,600 was down 5 per cent from April, a reversal of the normal trend for the month.

There was no indication, however, that the committee action was directly related to the new FHA report.

The committee overwhelmingly rejected a move to eliminate from the bill a provision to aid families relocated because of slum clearance projects. It is designed to provide housing for families whose incomes are not quite low enough to qualify for low-rent public housing.

The committee added 100 million dollars for community facilities loans, embracing water and sewer improvements to small towns—similar to a provision in the senate bill.

The committee also voted to raise the maximum interest rate permitted on military personnel housing mortgages from 4½ to 5½ per cent.

It would add 500 million dollars to funds available for college housing loans and 450 million dollars for urban renewal grants — the two major money items. The Senate bill calls for the same amount of college dormitory loans and 350 million for urban renewal and slum clearance.

Fall Off Earth? Gravity Weakening...

★ WORRY — Now here's something else to add to your list of worries: Scientists believe that gravity, the force that holds the world together, may be getting weaker. Does that mean we're going to fall off the face of the earth? Well, none of us now living has to be concerned with that, because it's taking place too slowly. But it's interesting to consider everybody is losing weight the easiest possible way. Unfortunately, the loss cannot be verified on bathroom scales. Even in a year, the decrease would be far less than a millionth of a pound. . . . Speculation that gravity may be diminishing began more than two decades ago. It has been theorized that a weakening of gravity will cause the earth's circumference to grow slightly larger every year, widening cracks in the outer shell of the planet. The argument is strengthened by the recent discovery that one single fracture, 45,000 miles long, encircles the globe. . . .

SCIENTISTS are keen to learn about gravity because it is the force that rockets and space ships must overcome to start their journeys. And gravity—the attraction of the earth's center for other masses—is a manifestation of gravitation, one of the most important powers in the universe. Every bit of matter attracts every other bit, with the tiniest grain of sand exerting a pull on the most distant star. Gravity has attracted some of the finest minds of history. Galileo disproved Aristotle when he showed that objects of different weights fall at equal speeds. Newton, who was born in 1642, the year Galileo died, devised a formula to calculate an object's gravitational pull by its mass and distance from the attracting object. . . .

★ IN THE 20th century, Einstein broadened Newton's formulations of gravitation, but the more scientists learn about gravity the more complicated it appears. Dr. Homer E. Newell, science director of the National Aeronautics and Space administration, has said that at least a dozen factors other than mass and distance influence measurements of gravitation. These include the shape of the attracting object and its speed of revolution. The National Bureau of Standards is attempting to measure gravity with greater precision by dropping a quartz rod down an airless tube. Scientists crisscross the globe with gravity meters to est the pull at various points. . . .

THESE METERS measure gravity in "gals," so called in honor of Galileo, and break the measurements down to milligals. Readings vary slightly according to the earth's composition — a fact valuable to geologists. Oil companies have gambled thousands of dollars in test drilling because a meter flickered by one milligal. Gravity is strongest at the poles, because the earth is somewhat flattened there and thus the surface is closer to the center of the earth. Gravity is weakest at the Equator, particularly in equatorial mountains, because of increased distance from the earth's center and the centrifugal force generated by the earth's spinning. A fat man can lose perhaps half a pound by moving from Washington to Quito, Ecuador. . . .

★ THROUGH the millenniums, the earth's gravity has pulled the moon considerably out of shape, turning it from a sphere into an oval. But the moon daily takes its revenge. The lunar gravitational field not only causes ocean tides; it creates atmospheric tides, which may affect space travel, and even earth tides. . . . Your Health

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

FORMATION of blood clots, particularly emboli type clots, is one of the most frequent complications following major operations.

Emboli are clots which break away from the site where they originally were formed and sweep along through the bloodstream until they lodge in a blood vessel. There they block the normal flow of blood.

The other type of blood clots, the thrombi, remain where they are formed.

A clot can form in many, many places. Frequent sites are the coronary arteries which supply the heart and the cerebral arteries which supply the brain.

Such blood clots can develop quickly and cause severe damage. Sometimes they are fatal.

Clots can also form in the veins of the legs, causing inflammation, local tenderness and chronic swelling.

In some cases, an embolus will form and travel through the bloodstream to lodge in an artery of the lung. We call this pulmonary embolism. This particular type is the one most likely to occur after surgery.

Clots in the blood vessels of the lungs, heart and brain are the most difficult to treat. However, we can treat them to a certain extent, at least.

During the last decade, the administration of anticoagulants has become common practice in combating blood clots. Anticoagulants are drugs which tend to prevent clots from forming.

Now a new approach is being tried. It involves the use of agents to dissolve clots after they have been formed.

The body contains a defensive enzyme called fibrinolysin which helps dissolve the framework of blood clots.

The new approach is to develop methods of raising blood vessels of fibrinolysin to increase the body's own ability to dissolve the clots. Researchers have found several methods of doing this.

Fasting apparently aids the effect of fibrinolytic therapy. So does the use of a diet low in animal fat.

On the other hand, heavy meals, particularly those high in fat content, inhibit fibrinolytic activity.

Adventists Plan 5-Day Congress; Pine Forge to Send Delegates

A Youth Congress for North American Seventh-day Adventist will be in Convention Hall, Atlantic City, N. J., Tuesday through Saturday, June 25, Addison V. Pinkney, youth director of the Allegheny conference at Pine Forge, announced.

A total of 36 delegates will represent the Allegheny conference of Adventists, Pinkney said. Final lists have been submitted to the national office and delegates will be on their way to the eastern city Tuesday.

More than 15,000 young people from the 50 states of America and nine provinces in Canada are expected to attend the five-day parley. There will be 1600 official delegates.

ADDISON V. PINKNEY

Pinkney will head the delegation from the Allegheny conference. Also scheduled to attend from the church's headquarters office at Pine Forge are Pastor and Mrs. William L. Cheatham, Pastor and Mrs. William A. Thompson, and Professor and Mrs. I. E. Watson, principal of the Pine Forge institute.

THE SLOGAN for the Congress will be "Spotlight on the Bible," and the entire parley will be known as "The Festival of the Holy Scriptures."

Directing the meeting will be Theodore E. Lucas, of Washington, D. C., world youth leader of the General conference of Seventh-day Adventists. A staff of more than 75 are expected to assist him in the general planning of the youth session.

Pastor Pinkney has been asked by the headquarters in Washington, D C. to serve on the Music committee and the Public Relations committee.

Special featurees during the convention will be a Panorama of Missions, youth speakers, a pageant of Adventist youth activities, motion pictures, and a national oratorical contest.

SPEAKERS FOR the meeting will include the world president of the Adventist church, Reuben R. Figuhr, Washington, D. C.; speaker for the church's international program, Dr. Harold M. S. Richards, Los Angeles; and the director of the church's international television program, "Faith for Today," William A. Fagal, New York City.

In 1959 there were 14,200 Missionary volunteer youth societies of the Adventist church with a total of 450,000 Adventist youth members. The church has an educational system for its youth comprising 4892 schools with 273,142 pupils.

The purpose of the church's youth program, called Missionary volunteering, is to direct young people into missionary activity for the development of their own characters and for the advancement of Christian work. It promotes recreational pursuits acceptable to the youth and in harmony with the denomination's high standards.

The program of the Congress will include clinics on marriage, military service, and career problems, directed by top level professional persons. Workshops are scheduled as well as a series of devotional hours.

MAIN MEETINGS will be in the huge auditorium of Convention hall. Delegates from Pine Forge and other areas of the Allegheny conference will stay in the Colony motel on the Boardwalk.

This is the first time that an Adventist meeting with so large an expected attendance has been conducted on the east coast.

Pottstown will be a stopping place for many delegates to the Congress coming from the west. On Monday a busload of delegates from the Lake region area will stay overnight at Pine Forge and then continue through Pottstown on the way to Philadelphia and Atlantic City. Other delegations are expected to stop here on the way to New Jersey and on the return trip.

Judge Refuses New Trial for Farmer's Plea

An Upper Hanover township dairy farmer, who lost more than one-third of his acreage through condemnation when the Green Lane dam was constructed, will have to be satisfied with an award of $14,000 given by a civil jury for the 27.27 acres involved.

A new trial for Ladislavais Duklis and his wife, Konstancija, is refused in an opinion by Judge E. Arnold Forrest, who ruled "the asking of a single question which was immediately ruled objectionable and which was not answered . . . is not sufficient ground for a new trial."

Mr. and Mrs. Duklis were owners of a property of 70.26 acres, with a frontage of 1300 feet on Knight road. The portion condemned by Philadelphia Suburban Water company for its dam was creek frontage, meadow and woodland. There were no buildings on the portion condemned.

At the trial, Charles A. Green, Norristown realtor since 1923, testified his opinion of damages sustained was $45,553, based on an appraisal of value of $133,974 before the condemnation and $88,421 after the taking of the 27 acres.

CONFLICTING opinions were given by two real estate brokers who testified for the defendant water company. Joseph Swann estimated damages at $8,812 and J. Russell Brode, at $9265.

Green, as part of his testimony, said he found no comparable property sold within a two-year period before the condemnation except properties sold to Philadelphia Suburban Water company. He said his appraisal was based on a study of local conditions.

Duklis said the farm is most suitable for dairy farming and that the loss of the creek, meadow and woodland was regarded as a great depreciation.

Primary reason cited in the motion for a new trial was a question asked of Green on cross-examination.

COUNSEL FOR the water company asked the Norristown broker if he would agree "that the prevailing market value of farm land in that area in September, 1955, was not more than three or four hundred dollars per acre?"

An objection to the mention of possible value was sustained and the question never was answered, but the court denied a motion for mis-trial.

The opinion states such a question might be considered proper by some, but the Supreme Court has ruled the measure of damages in condemnation proceedings is the difference in market value of the tract as a whole before and after the taking.

Mr. and Mrs. Duklis contended, in their motion for a new trial, that they were harmed by the mere asking of the question on the cross-examination of Green.

In refusing the new trial plea, Judge Forrest pointed out that after the question was ruled objectionable, there was no attempt by the water company counsel to follow with other objectionable questions, nor did he raise any preceding the cross-examination of Green.

The portion of the Duklis property involved was condemned on Sept. 9, 1955.

Fisticuffs Open Trial for Actor

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—Trial for actor William Talman—television's hard luck district attorney—and six others on morals charges began Wednesday on a fistic note.

The husband of one of the defendants, Bill Donovan, launched a fist-swinging barrage against newsmen and later explained he was "just trying to protect my wife."

Talman, fired as district attorney on the Perry Mason series, and seven other persons are accused of frolicking in the nude at a party March 18.

The raid on the apartment of Richard Reibold, 31, turned up some marijuana. Narcotics charges also were filed against Reibold.

Actress Lola K. De Witt, 31, one of the defendants, is being tried separately because of a prior police record.

New Federal Controls Urged for Drugs

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) introduced Wednesday night a bill to place the prescription drug-manufacturing industry under broad new federal controls.

The measure would require the licensing of manufacturers by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, and arm the Food and Drug Administration with new powers to police the industry and test the efficacy of new drugs and medicines.

Kefauver told the Senate he based the measure on the evidence he has heard in hearings by his Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee.

The measure calls for penalties up to a year in prison and $500 fine for violations.

Marie Accardo Marries Tackle

CHICAGO (AP)—A daughter of Tony Accardo, reputed crime syndicate chief, eloped with a football star and member of a prominent suburban family, it was learned Wednesday.

Marie Judith Accardo, 20, a willowy, attractive blonde, and William Palmer Pyle Jr., 22, a rookie member of the world champion Baltimore Colts professional football team were married May 23 in the Cook County building in Chicago.

Pyle, 6 feet 2 is a former star tackle at Michigan State University where he met his bride. She attended the university for one year.

Pyle's father is executive of Kraft Foods in Chicago. Pyle's brother, Mike, is center and captain elect of the Yale University football team. The Pyle home is in Winnetka.

The couple were married in Marriage Court immediately after obtaining their license in the county clerk's office. Family members or attendants were not present.

They have been living in suburban Evanston since the wedding but will move to Baltimore in July in preparation for Pyle's joining the Colts.

On the marriage license, Miss Accardo listed her address as 915 Franklin St., River Forest. This is the lavish showplace with its spacious lawn where Accardo hosted top syndicate leaders for several years at July 4 picnics.

Pyle's mother, Cathryn, verified a report of the marriage.

"I only hope they will be very happy," she said.

Her husband said: "The kids went off by themselves and got married. They are very much in love. Marie is a lovely girl. My wife and I was happy the kids are married even though we weren't able to attend the ceremony. They wanted to be by themselves."

Nixon Discloses Weight Secret

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon has disclosed his secret for keeping his weight down—"attending two or three luncheons a day in succession and not eating at any."

He said keeping such a schedule enables one to miss the first course at the first luncheon, the second course at the second, and so on.

"Since I don't eat dessert anyway, I end up with coffee for lunch—and that keeps the weight down."

He made the remarks at a luncheon while other guests were working on the meal.

CLINTON, N.J. (AP)—Two British sergeants marched across the rolling green New Jersey countryside Wednesday bound for New York and a new cross-country hiking record.

They hoped to camp for the night at nearby Annandale and set out again on U.S. Rt. 22 at 6 a.m. Thursday.

"We sure love this road," said one of them, Sgt. Patrick Maloney, 34, a Royal Air Force paratroop instructor. His companion in the coast-to-coast walk is Mervyn Evans, 33, a British army paratrooper.

They said they hope to make New York sometime Friday morning. If they do, they will cut 10 days from the present transcontinental hiking record of 77 days. Their destination is the British exposition at the New York Coliseum.

Wednesday marked their 65th day on the road. They left San Francisco April 12.

The mountains of western Pennsylvania were even worse than the Rocky Mountains, they said. They were comparatively fresh when they negotiated the Rockies.

The sergeants appeared robust enough as they strode east on the big highway. Clinton is 56 miles from New York. Rt. 22 will become choked with traffic as they get closer to the metropolitan area. Their route beyond Union, N.J., was not yet established. Nor had they decided how they will cross the Hudson River.

They said they have worn out four pairs of shoes apiece so far, averaging 14 hours a day on the road, including stops to rest and eat.

Another British sergeant, Roy Rogers, drives ahead of them in an auto towing a trailer. All three sleep in the trailer on the roadside each night.

New Bloody Battle Reported in Tibet

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP)—Tibetan rebels and Communist Chinese occupation forces are fighting one of the bloodiest battles since the Chinese Communists took over the country, an official said Wednesday.

K. L. Sharishaha, acting chairman of the African Council's National Committee of Nepal, said in a statement the battle is being fought in Nagarjong, western Tibet. He asserted that wounded Chinese troops are being rushed to military hospitals in Lhasa, Shigatse and Gyantse.

Tibetan women were reported fighting alongside the rebels.

Former Governor Long Resists in 'Mild Way'

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Former Gov. Earl K. Long pleaded innocent Wednesday to charges growing out of a disturbance following an automobile accident.

The 64-year-old Long will stand trial Aug. 18. The charges stemmed from Tuesday night's accident when Long's automobile struck the rear of another car. Both cars struck other automobiles.

Long is accused of using obscene language, resisting arrest, reviling a policeman, reckless driving and driving without a license.

"I resisted in a mild sort of way," Long said, adding: "I'm going to fight this thing in court. I wasn't intoxicated. I wasn't speeding and I wasn't endangering anyone's life. I was only going about 25 miles per hour."

No one was injured in the accident. The second car was driven by Sidney L. Waguespack Jr., 33, of New Orleans.

Approval came after a request was made by Playground Supervisor Stephen Yura, on behalf of the High School Basketball coach Russell Millard.

The games were approved on a trial basis. The board imposed a 10 p. m. deadline on each game. No schedule has been drawn up yet and Yura said there was no indication of how many youngsters would play.

Employes in offices on that side of the building were either evacuated or prevented from entering the building.

NOTHING TO IT—Jeff Suter, two, winds up—tongue and all—for a mighty swing at the croquet ball during a "warm-up" round at Centennial Park in Nashville. His brother, Richie, four, kibitzes from the rear, probably remembering how it was in his younger days.

Area Elementary Pupils Tour Nation's Capital

PARKER FORD—Phone HY 5-6275, Lile McDonald, del. Phone Glenview 8-5219.

The culminating activity of the series of special classes conducted among selected pupils of four area elementary schools was a weekend trip to Washington, D. C.

Director of special education for Chester county, Frank Giraffe, conducted the tour and also had charge of other sessions of the group throughout the school year.

Pupils taking part in the project represented East Coventry, North Coventry, French Creek Valley and Vincent Townships schools.

Other adults accompanying them on the weekend trip were Mrs. Gay Brown, James Dell, principal of French Creek Valley school, and Harold Wynne, principal of North Coventry school.

TWO PUPILS from each school were selected to make the trip expense-free while the ten others paid their own expenses.

Making the trip from East Coventry were James Downing, Patty Keen, and Cheryl Montgomery; from Vincent, Paul Bilzi, John Philson, Shirley Gotshall; French Creek Valley, James Buckwalter, Alan Slapinski, Thomas Horney, Jerry Wall, John Kolle and Lisa Rothenberger, and from North Coventry, Linda Keim, Susan Brown, Mary Walbert, Todd Buckwalter, James Welsh, and Scott Kutz.

The group left Exton by bus at 7:30 a. m. Saturday morning arriving at Washington at 10:30 a. m.

Saturday's lunch was a picnic at Haines Point park. A view from the observation platform at Washington International air port was seen by the group and the remainder of the afternoon was spent in the Smithsonian institute.

A BOAT RIDE was taken down the Potomac river and into the Chesapeake Bay on the SS Mt. Vernon. Washington's home at Mt. Vernon was viewed from the boat.

Saturday evening was spent at Marshall's hall amusement park outside of Washington.

Sunday morning, two churches were visited—the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception, the largest Catholic church in the United States, and a Moslem mosque. The group removed their shoes upon entering the mosque.

Also included in the week end tour were Arlington National cemetery, the Polish, French and Russian embassies, Lincoln Memorial, Washington Monument, the Capitol and the statue of the United States Marines raising the flag on Iwo Jima.

ONE OF the main projects of the group during the year was an experimental study of the raising of white rats. Purpose of the project was to observe conditioned responses of the animals to associated stimuli. Pupils learned to care for the animals properly recorded results accurately and do independent research.

The eleven boys and seven girls who took part in the Washington trip are Fifth graders.

Principal of East Coventry school is C. Ray Woodland while Paul J. Willey is Vincent township's school principal.

from the school board."

The meeting started 8 p. m. and Smillie walked out at 10:30 p. m. At 11:50 p. m. the board took a short recess and their attire indicated the rigor of their inquest.

Pearlstine remarked, "Everything said tonight has been recorded on tape. The board will study all the testimony gathered."

He continued, "All witnesses are co-operative. None are reticent and none took the fifth amendment."

The meeting then reconvened for a second lengthy probe early this morning.

At 1:20 a. m. a dozen of the 30 witnesses strode from the talks, but they were tight lipped about proceedings.

The only comment from one tired-appearing women was, "I feel sorry for people still in the meeting. It looks as if the session will be prolonged several more hours."

Township Saved By Joining City's Sewer System

time the problem was so acute that there was no doubt that something would be done.

* * *

A HARRISBURG engineering firm was hired to study the possible solutions in the 30-square mile township. The firm, Gannett, Fleming, Coddry and Carpenter, incorporated, returned with an answer that directly contradicted the first survey. They said the township should build its own system.

The authority, confused by the conflicting reports, began its own investigations.

The five-member authority met two and three nights a week for months—finally coming to the conclusion that to tie in with Reading would save money and provide just as efficient a system.

THE DECISION was based on these factors:

1. The cost for a complete system to be operated independently by the township would cost nearly $4 million; the cost of tying in with Reading would be $3 million.

2. The savings in maintenance after the initial outlay would be between $10,000 and $15,000 yearly.

3. Tying in with Reading would allow for future expansion at less cost.

A $3.1 million bond issue was floated in Dec., 1959, and in February contracts were awarded and construction begun on the 45 miles of pipeline needed.

The short termbonds — of which there are $1.1 million at 3⅝s percent interest—will be paid through the connection charge and front footage fee. These bonds fall due in 1966.

THE $2 MILLION in long term bonds are for 40 years at 4.2 and 4.5 percent. They will be paid through the proceeds of the annual sewer fee.

The connection fee is $85 and the front-footage fee $7 per foot. In the township, where 80 percent of the people own their own homes, the average frontage is 70 feet.

"The 70 foot average is misleading, however, because there are a large percentage of single residences in the area," Manwiller explained. "The cost to the owner of a row house will be very low compared to many communities in the State which have either built their own or waited too long to join with other communities."

The rental fee will be $14.50 a quarter—or $58 yearly, Manwiller reported. "And that is a fee much lower than it would have been if we had built our own system—but still higher than it would have been if we hadn't waited five years."

* * *

THE COLLECTION system, which is expected to be finished in 1962, is constructed to allow expansion of the township's population to 25,000—without any expansion of the collection system or additional costs.

From Manwiller's point of view, the township was lucky in being allowed to hook into the Reading system.

But Reading officials think that they were just as lucky. Edward A. Elbert, city engineer, said "the advantages are on both sides."

Reading advantages are two fold. First, the inclusion of the surrounding townships allows Reading to triple the capacity of its sewage treatment plant to meet its own increased needs and the needs of the surrounding townships.

Secondly, the revenue from the included communities allows for better service and the expansion of the plant without a huge debt.

THE NEW sewage treatment plant, which is expected to be in operation by the Fall of 1961, was built with a bond issue of $4 million floated in 1956. The bond issue not only covers the cost of the treatment plant but the construction of 30 miles of pipelines for three wards that were not previously serviced.

"Our treatment plant was one of the first in the State—1899—and the three wards were unpopulated at that time since they were on the other side of the Schuylkill river," Elbert explained.

Under a city law, there is no sewer rental. But they will be assessed for connection and frontage. Those fees have not yet been set. They'll be reasonable, though," he explained.

THE NEW treatment plant will handle 23½ million gallons daily. The old one was equipped to handle eight or nine million.

The charge to Muhlenberg township and the other six communities who have joined with Reading, is $12 per residency—a residency being a housing unit. An additional $3 will be collected annually and placed in escrow.

This $3 will be held in case further expansion is needed to meet an unforeseen population explosion, Elbert explained. If the money isn't used, it will be returned, along with the interest it gathers, to the public.

The contracts between Reading and the seven communities are so written that either side can renegotiate the basic fee every three years to meet increased or decreased cost.

The other six communities are Laureldale borough, Temple borough, Lower Alsace township, Kumru township, Kenhorst borough and Spring township.

(Another in a series of multitown sewage systems will appear tomorrow.)

TWO HOMES ARE STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

Mrs. Warren Sterner, who lives next door, was up when the lightning struck.

"It lit up the entire living room. At first I thought the transformer was hit. Then my daughter called, screaming that her house was hit."

The lightning knocked the chimney apart and started a fire between the ceiling and roof above Mrs. Updegrove's bedroom.

The Sassamansville Fire company was called on both fires. Two pumpers and 12 men responded to the first call. The fire was out by the time they arrived.

They fought the second blaze for 20 minutes, chopping through the bedroom ceiling to get at the flames. Earl Adams, assistant chief, was in charge of both calls.

Webber was unable to estimate the cost of rewiring the house. Mrs. Sterner estimated the damage to her daughters home at $450.

Hardcastle resigned from the local company Wednesday.

In his five years here he represented his company in several fare increase hearings in Harrisburg, and expanded the transportation service by acquiring a taxi company.

He is married, lives at 995 Warren street. He expects to move with Mrs. Hardcastle to New Brunswick within 60 days.

Man Sentenced In Berks Court

William E. Smith, 19, of Zionsville RD 1, pleaded guilty to hit and run charges and was sentenced Wednesday in Berks county court.

Smith was fined $300, ordered to pay cost of prosecution, make restitution for property damage and hospitals bills, was put on two years probation and was ordered not to drive during that time.

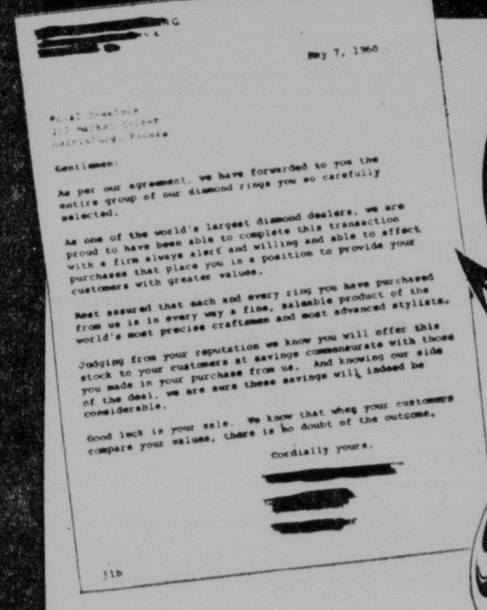

Smith was nabbed by Hereford Police Chief George Crum. The arrest followed a hit and run in Boyertown RD 1 on April 30. Injured in the accident was Mrs. Marion Heist, 525 Montgomery avenue, Boyertown, and her 3 year old daughter, Rodena.

Security Officials Check Measures For Ike's Safety

MANILA (AP)—Worried American security officials worked over arrangements Thursday for President Eisenhower's visit to Japan in the face of bloody new riots in Tokyo. They are said to have deep doubts now whether Japanese police can protect the President on his scheduled arrival Sunday afternoon.

The warm welcome showered on Eisenhower in the Philippines was shadowed by the continuing violence in Japan and the possibility of what might develop there.

Informed sources said security forces here and in Tokyo were reassessing the situation. There was no immediate word whether the officials charged with protecting the President would make any direct approach to him regarding their reported concern.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen he would have no comment on the new violence in Tokyo—climaxed in the worst riots so far against the U.S.-Japan security treaty and the government of Japanese Premier Nobosuke Kishi.

The White House has declined—obviously for security reasons—to make public the details of the President's planned three-day visit to Tokyo. The itinerary may not be disclosed until the eve of his arrival.

Wednesday night the President, an old soldier in the Philippines, was guest of honor at a state dinner given by Philippines President Carlos P. Garcia at Malacanang Palace.

Getting into the spirit of things in these islands, Eisenhower wore a barong Tagalog to the dinner. This lightweight embroidered shirt, hanging outside the trousers, is the most fashionable garb for men at evening social affairs here. The long-sleeved shirts are worn buttoned at the neck without a tie. Eisenhower's beige barong was given him by Garcia.

Eisenhower was ruddy from Manila's hot sun. He nodded his head in rhythm as the Philippine army chorus sang a medley of his favorite songs.

In a toast to Garcia, Eisenhower said the nations of the world must continue to negotiate.

West Rejects Red Plan for Disarmament

GENEVA (AP) — The Western powers rejected Wednesday the main provision of the Soviet Union's new disarmament plan. This headed the 10-nation disarmament conference into a new stalemate.

Some Western officials now assume the Soviet Union will take its disarmament ideas to the U.N. General Assembly this fall. The highlight is a proposal to ban vehicles for delivering nuclear bombs, such as rockets, submarines and bombers. The plan is a revision of the "general and complete" disarmament scheme laid before the U.N. last year by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

U.S. Ambassador Frederick M. Eaton told Valerian Zorin, Soviet deputy foreign minister, the Communists's new plan is unacceptable to the West because it would paralyze the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The plan "would unbalance the military situation in Europe in the favor of the Soviet Union," said Easton, "and leave the smaller nations of Europe at the mercy of their larger Eastern neighbor."

In what appeared to be a turning point in the second round of disarmament talks here, Easton also told the U.S.S.R to stop "the frequent and reckless Soviet threats to launch nuclear attacks on other countries — specially smaller countries on the periphery of the Soviet bloc."

Superbooster Test Hailed By Von Braun

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP)—The giant Saturn superbooster, the United States' brightest hope for placing a multiton payload in space, was successfully tested Wednesday for the last time in the current series.

The 122-second test, longest in a series of nine, was called completely successful by an enthusiastic Wernher von Braun, director of the Saturn project.

Von Braun, watching from a nearby bluff, excitedly grabbed the arm of a newsman as the roar of the giant engines prevented conversation.

Von Braun said the next series will start in August and will be prior to the actual flight of the booster in 1961.

"We have learned enough about fundamentals from this series," Von Braun said.

The superbooster, the first stage of the Saturn missile, is scheduled to be flown at Cape Canaveral, Fla., next year.

Before the firing Von Braun outlined to newsmen a 10-test series of Saturn launchings beginning next year and continuing until 1964 when the completed missile is expected to make its first payload trip into outer space.

Wednesday's test produced about 1,300,000 pounds of thrust, just shy of the 1½ million pounds of thrust the booster can generate in a full firing of about 2½ minutes.

Soviet Warns Japan Against U.S. Alliance

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union told Japan Wednesday it courts disaster if it continues providing military bases for U.S. forces.

The warning in a formal note handed to the Japanese ambassador was sounded amid the bloodiest rioting in Tokyo so far in the month-long leftist campaign against the new U.S.-Japan defense treaty and it came four days before President Eisenhower's scheduled visit to Japan.

The Soviet news agency Tass described the Soviet statement as calling Japan's attention "to the dangerous consequences of stationing American planes" on its territory.

The note also reminded Japan that it had not replied to the Soviet note of May 20 regarding the military pact and said this omission indicated the Japanese were "not considering the seriousness and danger in the situation which may arise as a result of use by United States aviation, of bases in Japan, in carrying out aggressive acts against the Soviet Union.

"The present course of the Japanese government may attract trouble to Japan if understanding is not displayed as to the path along which military circles of the United States are pushing Japan," the note said.

It added, "Criminal actions of the United States military and the attempts by the Japanese government to justify participation in them are again clearly demonstrating the aggressive nature of the Japanese-American military pact."

FOREIGN AID CUT BLASTED BY DILLON

State Department Cites Security Risk

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department Wednesday lambasted a House committee cut in foreign aid funds as posing a serious danger to America's security.

Undersecretary Douglas Dillon denounced the action of the House Appropriations Committee in language rarely used by the department about a congressional action.

DOUGLAS DILLON

The committee on Tuesday voted for a 790-million-dollar cut below the $4,175,000,000 sought by President Eisenhower for foreign assistance in the fiscal year starting July 1. Republican committee members failed to overturn the cuts which were recommended by a subcommittee under Chairman Otto E. Passman (D-Ala).

"If uncorrected by Congress, (the cut) will severely impair the effctiveness of the program and require the assumption of risks to our national security which are both unnecessary and dangerous," Dillon said.

He termed the committee's slash for arms and defense-support aid to U. S. allies as "weakening of our frontline defenses at a time when the need for a steadfast and strong position is critical."

He said the committee cut in special economic assistance abroad would mean "mutilation or sacrifice of a number of these essential programs with results which could only be deeply injurious to our national security."

He said the committee's refusal to approve money for the India-Pakistan Indus waters project would, if sustained by Congress, have "effectively sabotaged the multinational effort" on this key project for the two Asian countries.

Proposed restrictions on the overseas technical aid program would in effect change it to a "unilateral or a take-it-or-leave-it program" instead of a cooperative undertaking, he said.

The State Department blast against the committee action, issued through press officer Joseph W. Reap, marked a vigorous step by the administration in a drive to win congressional approval of a higher figure.

PILGRIMS BANNED

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Red China has told India to keep pilgrims away from the west Tibetan localities of Kailash and Mansarover Lake, paradise and bathing place of Deity in Hindu mythology. Indians believe the Chinese want to keep prying eyes off guerrilla warfare reported in the area and perhaps to conceal a Chinese military buildup.

Japanese Police Use Tear Gas To Quell Bloody Student Riot

Government Denounces Uprising As Communist Attempt to Overthrow Kishi Rule

TOKYO (AP) — Japanese leftists launched massive new demonstrations Thursday against the government of Premier Nobusuke Kishi.

The renewed demonstrations came after a night of violence that left one dead and more than 800 injured.

Foreign Minister Aiichiro Fujiyama told newsmen, however, President Eisenhower will come to Japan as scheduled Sunday.

Despite his announcement, there were unconfirmed reports that Fujiyama's office was urging Kishi to reconsider the invitation.

The U.S. Embassy and security officials were watching the situation closely but were proceeding on the assumption Eisenhower would carry out the trip as scheduled.

The casualties in Wednesday's rioting that brought the nation close to revolution widened the division between moderate Japanese and the left-wing minority and brought new anxiety over Eisenhower's safety.

A mob of hysterical leftist students laid seige to Japan's Parliament buildings for hours Wednesday night and the harassed government finally allowed police to use tear gas to end the rioting. The outburst was the worst in a month's series of turmoil following the Communist line.

The government denounced the uprising as a Communist attempt to overthrow Premier Nobusuke Kishi and keep Japan from ratifying the new treaty aligning this country with the United States in a Far Eastern line of defense against Communist aggression.

The rioting went on for seven hours before police, helpless with their clubs and forbidden to use revolvers, got orders to charge with tear gas. It was the first time in eight years the government has permitted use of gas.

The outbreak came just four days before the scheduled arrival of President Eisenhower and cast fresh doubt on whether the government's security measures could safeguard him. But the Cabinet, in an emergency midnight session, said nothing about withdrawing Kishi's invitation to Eisenhower—an action which almost certainly would bring down his government.

The government blamed the uprising on "a planned action dictated by international Communists to destroy democracy by violent revolution."

"We will not surrender to any violence and will continue to defend the principles of democracy," said Etsusaburo Shiina, Cabinet secretary.

A government statement read by Shiina following the Cabinet meeting added: "We have decided not to change the original stand taken in regard to President Eisenhower's visit. But since the opposition movement against President Eisenhower's visit is expected to increase, carefully thought out security measures will be taken while at the same time President Eisenhower's itinerary will be re-examined."

The area around the parliament buildings looked like a battle ground. Wreckage littered the scene, spilled gasoline burned on the pavements and heavy black smoke filled the air.

The rioting left nearly 500 persons injured, two-thirds of them police.

While a driving rain poured down, the pro-Red students tore off the gates of Parliament, hurled bricks, rocks and staves in violent kamikaze (suicide) charges at police, and occupied part of the grounds surrounding Parliament. The tall granite Diet tower was not damaged, but the mob sacked a two-story annex.

From dusk until after midnight 14,400 members of the radical federation Zengakuren held the building under their sway.

They stormed through police lines into the grounds, overturned and burned 20 trucks, tore up pavement and used it to bombard police, and staged two mass battles with the 5,000 police guards.

Police finally dispersed the rioters with a tear gas charge that left dozens of moaning, bleeding youths—both boys and girls—littering the streets.

The Cabinet announced no steps for dealing with new left-wing demonstrations threatened for later Thursday and for Friday. It defended as "natural under the circumstances" the belated decision to use tear gas, and it asked public cooperation.

The violence broke out despite a move by Kishi to take the heat off the visit of President Eisenhower. He ordered Parliament recessed, thus holding up final ratification of the hotly disputed U. S.-Japanese military treaty until after the President's departure.

Ignoring the truce move, opposition Socialists and left-wing union leaders denounced police action in Wednesday night's riot and renewed their demands that Eisenhower not come to Japan.

The secretary-general of Kishi's Liberal-Democratic party, Kosaku Shinoda, charged flatly that the antigovernment demonstrations raging for a month were dent riot when Kishi left for Washer Thursday and for Friday. It ordered by Communist China and ington to sign the defense treaty.

Shinoda said Japanese Communists, acting on orders from Peiping, have taken charge of the demonstrations. He asserted that the Socialist party and the Sohyo labor federation, which launched the campaign to overthrow Kishi and defeat the mutual security pact, no longer were in control of the demonstrations.

He implied that the demonstrations were financed by overseas Communist sources.

The woman killed was Miss Michiko Kamba, 22, a student at Tokyo University.

She is believed to have been trampled, as she died of chest and head injuries. The newspaper Asahi said she had been arrested last January for participating in a stu-

Beaton Executed By Firing Squad

SANTIAGO, Cuba (AP)—A Cuban firing squad Wednesday executed rebel leader Manuel Beaton, 30, and two accomplices. Shot with the former army captain were his brother, Cipriano, and Felipe Martinez.

The end came a little more than 24 hours after a military tribunal had deliberated only 17 minutes to convict the three of leading an abortive revolt against Prime Minister Fidel Castro last April and killing peasant militia leader Maj. Francisco Tamayo. Tamayo had gone into the mountains of Oriente province in an attempt to persuade Beaton's gang to surrender.

Four priests and two doctors accompanied the condemned men from their cells to the firing range. Newsmen were not allowed to attend the executions.

Five other rebels were sentenced to prison terms ranging from 5 to 30 years. Seven youths were sentenced to reformatories until they reach maturity. One was acquitted.

The executions marked the end of the most publicized insurrection against Castro since he took over Cuba Jan. 1, 1959.

Hurricane Season Officially Opens

Jacksonville, Fla. (AP) — The 1960 hurricane season opened officially Wednesday and the Navy sent two hurricane-hunter planes out to look for approaching storms.

Airborne Early Warning Squadron 4 is based at Jacksonville and handles operations under the direction of the joint hurricane warning center in Miami.

One plane went to Puerto Rico to make patrol flights around the Caribbean every other day. Another plane left for flights over the Gulf of Mexico. Another flight will be made Friday.

Missing Sailor Feared Dead in Torpedo Room of Nuclear Submarine Sargo

HONOLULU (AP)—Crewmen of the nuclear submarine Sargo waited Wednesday for a chance to enter the sub's fire ravaged torpedo room where one of their buddies may have died.

The Navy listed one sailor as unaccounted for and said he was believed to have been in the compartment at the ship's stern when fire broke out Tuesday.

A second crewman, unaccounted for earlier, was located in Honolulu.

Flames appeared while the Sargo was taking on a supply of liquid oxygen at Pearl Harbor. The compartment was sealed off and flooded immediately.

The Navy blamed the blaze on a rupture in the liquid oxygen line near the torpedo room.

A spokesman emphasized that the Sargo's nuclear power plant was not responsible for the fire and was not damaged. There were no nuclear warheads on board, he said.

The submarine's stern was submerged to extinguish the flames as the Sargo sat at her pier at the submarine base.

Firemen pumped out the damaged compartment Tuesday night and a Navy diver went in. He reported some areas of the room were severely damaged, but other portions were virtually unscathed. Because the compartment was not pumped dry, there remained the possibility of someone being trapped there.

The Sargo's skipper, Lt. Cmdr. John H. Nicholsen, had the compartment partially reflooded to finish the job of extinguishing combustible materials.

A spokesman said it was considered unlikely that the fire was caused by sabotage, such as has plagued the nuclear submarine Nautilus. He said there was no danger whatsoever of a fire in the nuclear reactor compartment.

Firemen fought the flames from the dockside while two fire boats sprayed foam over the smoking submarine until the stern was submerged. The blaze lasted about an hour.

It was the second time this year that the Sargo has been damaged. Her bow and conning tower were damaged by ice when she made an historic winter exploration cruise of the arctic basin and sailed under the North Pole. She returned to Pearl Harbor March 3.

House Labor Committee Approves Increase to $1.25 in Minimum Wage Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Labor Committee Wednesday stamped its approval on a bill to increase the minimum wage to $1.25 an hour in three steps and to extend coverage to an additional 4,105,000 workers.

The action still is subject to a final vote by the committee, which is expected Thursday to send it to the House floor.

Meanwhile, the Senate Labor Committee, trying to fashion similar legislation, rejected 12-3 a Republican move to knock out from those to be given coverage for the first time 3,937,000 retail and service enterprise employes.

The senators started out with a bill drawn up by a subcommittee that would have added 10,730,000 to those covered. It has been pared down to 5,124,000—with laundry workers, hotel and restaurant employes and workers in small retail stores and service establishments eliminated.

Wednesday's unsuccessful effort would have reduced the total to 1,187,000.

The Eisenhower administration has opposed any boost in the present $1-an-hour minimum but has indicated it would accept an increase to $1.10 or $1.15. It asked that three million workers be added to the 24 million now covered.

The efforts of the Senate and House Labor committees has been aimed at coming out with a bill President Eisenhower will not veto. Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass), chief sponsor of the Senate bill, said he expects his measure to be approved finally by the Senate committee Thursday.

The original House bill, introduced by Rep. James Roosevelt (D-Calif), would have added the 25-cent increase in one step and brought eight million more workers under coverage.

As approved, the measure would raise the minimum to $1.15 next Nov. 1, $1.20 on Nov. 1 next year and $1.25 on Nov. 1, 1962. Newly covered workers would start at $1 and reach $1.25 in three years.

It would mean pay increases this year for an estimated two million covered workers earning less than $1.15 an hour and for 837,000 of the newly covered workers earning under $1.

The Senate bill would make the $1.15 minimum effective Jan. 1, 1961, the $1.20 rate Jan. 1, 1962, the $1.25 rate Jan. 1, 1963.

The proposal in the Senate committee to eliminate 3,937,000 retail and service enterprise employes from those new workers to be covered was made by Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois. He was supported only by Sens. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz) and Norman Brunsdale (R-ND).

Steel Union Appoints New Representative of the Bethlehem Steel plant here; to D. C. Mills, industrial relations director for Bethlehem Steel at Bethlehem, who has charge of the Bridgeport negotiations, and to Sherman W. Richardson, industrial relations director of the Phoenixville plant.

Letters also went out to these union officials: Frank Jagielski, recording secretary, and Daniel Stetler, president of Local 2177 here; Alex C. Kovach, recording secretary, and Joseph Morgan, president, of the Phoenixville local, and Lewis A. Mancini, recording secretary, and Rudolph P. Matilini, president of the Bridgeport local.

Carcella's letters advised that Gaspich as of July 1, would be assigned to serve the locals in all matters between the unions and management.

"Gaspich is an individual of fine character and fully aware of his responsibilities," Carcella said.

The new Pottstown union official is 33, married, and the father of two daughters and a son. He lives in Fairless Hills. For two terms he served as president of the Fairless works union, and was a staff member of the international union for two years.

"GASPICH CAME out of a basic steel plant, and so is qualified to handle basic steel problems," Carcella said. The district director said Gaspich was well known to local steelworkers.

"He is devoted to his organization," said the district director.

"Steve Root has done an excellent job in Pottstown and will remain as the representative for the other seven unions," said Carcella. "We're making this addition to relieve Root of some of his burdens."

When Root came to Pottstown nearly five years ago he dealt with union-management problems at 12 plants in a wide area.

After his first year, he was relieved of representing 350 men in Plymouth Meeting and in Chester county. Until today, he still negotiated contracts and helped settle grievances for 4000 men in nine other unions.

THE USUAL workload for a USW international representative is five to six unions.

Besides work with the USW, Root led the Presidents association for over three years. That group represents thousands of people in the steel workers, the United Auto Workers and the United Rubber Workers unions. He also was a force in many welfare organizations, such as the United Fund.

Root said he was "very pleased" to get help from Gaspich. He has known Gaspich nearly two years and called him "a quite capable fellow."

Still under Root's guiding hand will be 2000 men at the following plants: Stanley G. Flagg and Company, Stowe; Atlantic Aviation, Boyertown; Piersol-Pine Manufacturing company, Oaks; and Neapco Products incorporated, Mayer Pollock steel company, and Pottstown Metal Products company, all of Pottstown.

STATE IS NAMED

West Virginia was named when western counties in Virginia rejected secession in 1863.

Optimists Name Rabbi Schorsch To Committee

Dr. Emil Schorsch, rabbi at Mercy and Truth synagog, Wednesday became the first Pottstown area person to serve on the scholarship committee of Optimists International.

Dr. Schorsch will help in deciding a half dozen scholarship awards each year for District 2.

He is a member of the Pottsgrove Optimist club and his appointment came at the group's meeting in Maria Assunta lodge. Dr. Schorsch will leave for Europe and the Middle East Tuesday and was given a bon voyage party by the club Wednesday night.

Main speaker at the meeting was Clarence Samuel Kissinger, assistant to the Pottstown borough manager. Kissinger said the Federal government "looks with favor" on the borough's plan for redevelopment.

He added, "it seems likely that Federal aid for our project is forthcoming."

NEW AIRPORT OPENED

MILAN, Italy (AP) — This big north Italian industrial city opened a new airport this week in suburban Linate for national and continental traffic. Malpensa Airport, 40 miles north, now is reserved for intercontinental planes.

crossing warns motorists to "Stop, Look and Listen." And according to a witness, Walter Miller, Pottstown RD 3, who was driving some 150 feet behind Mr. Good, said Mr. Good stopped at the sign but evidently failed to look and listen.

"He stopped and then he took off and the engine hit him broadside. . . I heard the train whistle. . . I don't know why he took off," Miller said.

W. C. Wyrock of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania railroad fireman who was aboard the engine said, "we were going 30 miles per hour, which speed we are allowed at that section."

Pointing to the huge black 1000 horse power engine he said, "these things you can't steer

CHARLES GOOD

like an automobile. I saw him as we came around the bend, but he was stopped then."

ENGINEER ON the engine was F. W. Noward of Creamery, who said they were going to deliver the engine to Reading, but "now we'll have to take it back to Philadelphia for repairs."

A three quarter inch steel guard plate of the front of the engine was bent back almost a foot as a result of the impact. "The truck caught between the engine and the ties and bent the plate," Wyrock said.

Summing up the accident, Wyrock said, "trying to save two minutes can cost a man his life."

Cpl. John A. Divine of the Reading State Police was the investigating officer.

MR. GOOD was born in Birdsboro and lived in the Pottstown area for ten years. He served with the Army during World War II.

Mr. Good is survived by his wife, Dorothy (Oswald) Good; two sons, Charles Jr., 13, and Gene, 8; one daughter, Cynthia, 7, all at home; mother Mrs. Myrtle (Kulp) Bowman and stepfather, George Bowman, Reading; sister, Mrs. Margaret Styer, Sanatoga; four stepsisters: Mrs. Gail Fielding, 365 North Evans street; Mrs. Lillian Sheha, Berks street, Stowe; Mrs. Helen Bailey, Douglassville RD 1, and Mrs. Dawn Genery, Reading.

Also two step-brothers, William Stadtman and Glen Bowman, both of Reading.

Funeral services will be Saturday at 2 p.m. from the Houck Funeral home, 112 North Washington street, with the Rev. John L. Smoker, pastor of the Salem EUB church officiating.

Burial will be in Highland Memorial park.

Norco's Police Car Turns Into 'Hot Auto'

North Coventry recently purchased a new police car.

Early this morning it was learned that the vehicle is a "hot auto."

The car isn't stolen property.

It just burst into flames. The incident occurred on Route 100 as Police Chief Charles Wilt and his assistant, Howard Seibold, were going to South Pottstown.

The underside of their patrol car caught fire and the men pulled into Mt. Zion cemetery to extinguish the blaze.

WHAT WOMEN ARE DOING

Retiring President Ruth E. Flinn Bids Soroptimists Farewell at Annual Dinner

The Pottstown Soroptimist club's installation dinner which annually highlights the club season concluded with laughter and tears Wednesday night at Brookside country club.

Members gratefully acknowledge the visit of Elizabeth Sweeney, a past board member of the Soroptimist club whose membership was transferred to Trenton, N. J., club when she left her position as director of nurses at Pottstown hospital.

They welcomed Alyce Willauer, club member who recently returned from a lengthy trip to the Southern states and Mrs. Bessie Shaffer, Connecticut mother of the new president, Ruth V. Shaffer.

New and retiring officers, board members and others were visibly saddened by the forthcoming departure of Captain Ruth E. Flinn, of the Salvation Army, who served as their president during the last year.

Captain Ruth and her husband, Captain C. Robert Flinn will be moving to the Wilmington, Del. citadel.

She was commended for her work with the club during the last eight years in addition to her "congeniality and willing co-operation."

"As a token of their appreciation," she was presented with a brass floor lamp.

Speaker and installing officer was Mrs. Lieutenant Colonel John Grace, director of Women's services who supervised the women's work of the Salvation Army in Southeastern Pennsylvania, Southern New Jersey and Delaware where her husband is the divisional commander.

Mrs. Grace was originaliy scheduled for last year's event, but was unable to attend. The fact that she could be present this year added to the Flinn tribute.

Mrs. Grace spoke on life and its beginning. She said, "life begins first when you become modestly meritorius second, when you become creatively courageous and third inwardly invisible and accept what we are."

She installed the following officers for the 1960-61 season: president, Miss Shaffer; vice president, Dorothy Holland; recording secretary, Florence Manthorne; corresponding secretary, Muriel Lichtenwalner, and treasurer Marian Keller.

Also board of directors, Dorothy Ayres and Jean Landes, one year, and Dorothy Sands, two years.

Invocation was given by Captain C. Robert Flinn. During dinner, organ music was played by Arthur Horst.

As retiring president, Captain Ruth Flinn extended a welcome to members and guests who attended from Allentown, Reading, Trenton, Roxborough, Soroptimist clubs and the local Venture club.

Group singing was led by Florence Manthrone, accompanied by Gladys Marquette, both past presidents. Harriet Longaker entertained with a vocal selection.

She also explained what it means to be a Soroptimist.

Mistress of ceremonies for the evening was Jean Landes, also a past president.

Captain Ruth Flinn sang the benediction.

Mobster Refuses to Testify Before Senators About Carbo

YANKEES, A'S IN STANDOFF, AFTER 13, 7-7

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The New York Yankees and Kansas City A's played to a 7-7 tie Wednesday night when their game was called in the bottom of the 13th inning because of rain.

However, the Yanks moved into a tie for first place in the American League with Cleveland, which split a doubleheader with Baltimore Orioles. Each has a 29-21 record while the Orioles are a percentage point behind in third place.

After a 30-minute delay, the umpires called the game. The A's had one on and one out in the 13th when high winds and heavy rain suddenly swept across the stadium. The game reverted to the 12th, the last completed inning.

A New York victory would have put the Yankees in first place.

The A's had rallied twice from three-run deficits — in the ninth and 12th innings — to keep the Yankees from clinching their eighth straight victory and taking over first place in the American League.

The Point Spread...

By WARREN HOWARD
(Mercury Sports Writer)

WHEN THE TELEPHONE JANGLES one out of a sound sleep at a ridiculously early hour, and the awakened party gropes around for the tormenting instrument, there's nothing like a cheerful (though perhaps piercing) voice like that of Eddie Sachs to clear up the cobwebs.

EDDIE SACHS

Now it's a well known fact in automobile racing circles that Sachs is a firm believer in the art of blowing one's own horn, so it came as no surprise to hear that he had only recently returned home, and there was a piece of news that he "couldn't wait to spread."

Sachs, like Johnny Thomson, is still looking for that first 1960 win on the USAC National championship trail, and will try again Sunday in a 100-miler at the Langhorne speedway. Both have been plagued by mechanical failures this year.

Sachs however, doesn't look on his "hornblowing" as bravado (though he feels that the two best drivers in the country are Johnny Thomson and himself, and past performances lend credence to the statement).

* * *

"I'M LIKE A little chamber of commerce for Pennsylvania," he says. "I'm proud of my home town, and I'm proud of my State. No matter where I drive, my home town and State are always mentioned, so I like to make a good showing."

The all-important bit of news however, had to do with a different kind of racing. Immediately after Sunday's Langhorne race, Sachs is leaving for Colorado, where he plans to drive in the Pike's Peak hill climb.

"It's the first time they've ever tried to put it on a National scale," he says. "I'll drive a championship car (probably the same one he'll pilot at Langhorne Sunday) and Roger Ward will drive a sports car. They wanted Rathmann to drive a stock car too, but he isn't going to make the trip."

Sachs' plans call for a month to be spent driving up and down the privately-owned road to the peak, familiarizing himself with the road, prior to the official practice period.

THERE WERE SOME questions about this venture that went unasked, but before one has one's morning coffee, well . . . Sachs however, attempted to fill all the gaps. "There are some pretty good local drivers in this thing," he said.

Foremost among them is one Dick Frenzel, of Denver, who has had a car in the top four every year, and Lou Unser, of Colorado Springs, a seven-time winner. Another is a guy named Al Rogers, who is president of the Pike's Peak Cog railway, and seven-time winner.

The climb, a 12.8-mile event called "the race into the clouds," is said to be the richest race per mile than any other in the world. It will be the first time that a championship car has been entered.

Sachs, who enjoys a conversation, moved on to other things. He spoke of Johnny Thomson, and picks the Boyertown Scot along with himself to win the Indianapolis "500" some day. "Listen," he says. "If you can lead that race you can win it."

THIS ISN'T A particularly new observation, but stems from the fact that, on succeeding Memorial Days, he and Thomson have held the pole position in the classic, only to be beaten by mechanical ills.

Sachs had only returned Tuesday night from his "Western swing," which included the "500," a 100-miler at Milwaukee, in which he finished fifth, and a sprint race at Terre Haute, Ind., in which he finished eighth.

First things first however, and both Sachs and Thomson would like to hang up a win Sunday, because Langhorne is "right in our back yard." The Bucks county 100-miler will boast its largest entry list in history, with 31 top drivers on tap.

"It really ought to be a show," said Sachs, who with his bride of a year, Nancy, plays badminton with other guests at motels for recreation. "It is also the East's last championship show of the year."

"By the way," he said suddenly, almost as an afterthought. "Did I wake you up?"

Heavy Champ Ends Heavy Workouts

GROSSINGER, N. Y. (AP)—Heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson took it easy in a final three-round workout Wednesday as he sharpened his left hand for Monday's title fight against Floyd Patterson.

The 27-year-old Swede slacked off a bit from more impressive workouts earlier in the week.

Dr. Alexander Schiff of the New York State athletic commission reported the champion weighed about 197 pounds when he examined him before the drill.

INVOKES 5TH, SAYS HE WAS THREATENED

Irving Mishel Says Mob Issued Warning In Jail

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—A reputed front man for boxing racketeers—speaking of threats to get him even in prison—refused Wednesday to tell Senate investigators anything about Frankie Carbo, described as the undisputed overlord of boxing.

Irving Mishel, now serving a 10- to 20-year sentence for grand larceny, said he didn't want to talk because he had been "threatened with violence" if he did so. He wouldn't say who threatened him.

Sen. Philip A. Hart (D-Mich), acting chairman of the Senate Antimonopoly subcommittee probing gangster influence in boxing, let Mishel know the threats gave him no legal ground to refuse testimony. Mishel then pleaded the Fifth Amendment.

Shaking his head "no," the pudgy-faced Mishel rejected a subcommittee offer to cloak him with special protection at the Clinton State Prison in Dannemora, N.Y., from which he was brought here under guard.

At one point, Hart exclaimed indignantly that "some long hands have reached right into this committee room" and behind prison walls to silence Mishel.

The subcommittee announced it was turning over to the U.S. attorney in New York all the information it has about threats against Mishel. The group's counsel, Rand Dixon, said he assumed the FBI would be called in.

Mishel told the probers the warning to keep his mouth shut was served on him May 20 or May 21 while he was in the New York House of Detention.

Subcommittee staff members said they believed this happened while Mishel was in custody of U.S. marshals on his way back to Dannemora after preliminary questioning here by the Senate group.

Mishel wouldn't say whether he had reported the threats to any prison officials.

At the New York Federal House of Correction, authorities said they knew nothing of any threats. At Dannemora, Warden J. E. LaValle declared himself positive Mishel had not been threatened while at Clinton State Prison.

The subcommittee met a stone wall at the outset when Mishel was asked if he knew Carbo, now serving a two-year prison sentence for undecover boxing activities.

Carbo is doing time at the New York City prison on Rikers Island. That is separate from the House of Detention and perhaps 200 miles from Dannemora.

Subcommittee lawyer John G. Bonomi wanted to know whether Mishel's first meeting with Carbo hadn't been arranged by his chauffeur, Irving Fine, "also known as Two-Gun Fine," who had held a similar job with Anthony (Tony Fats) Salerno.

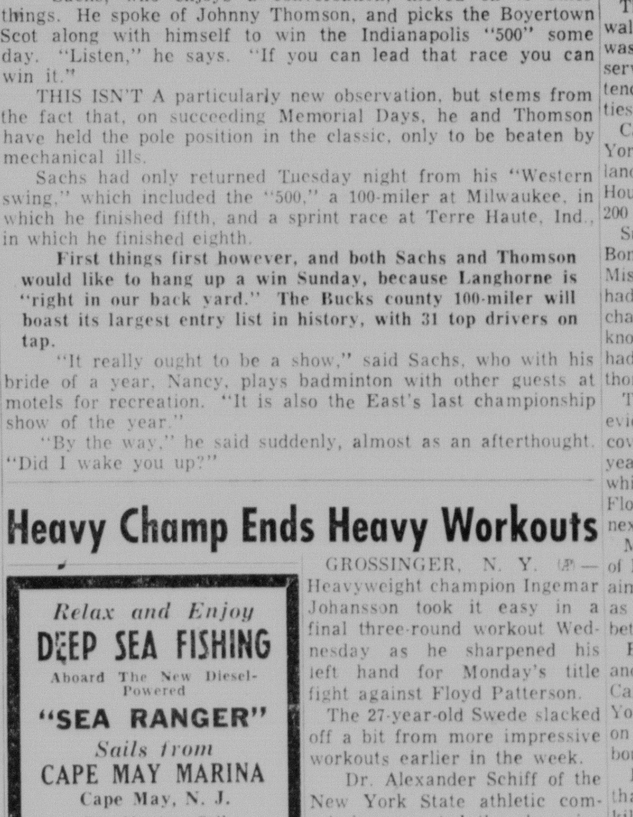

The subcommittee says it has evidence Salerno was the undercover financial backer of last year's heavyweight title fight in which Ingemar Johansson defeated Floyd Patterson. A rematch is due next week.

Mishel kept silent on this and all of Bonomi's questions, which were aimed in part at showing Mishel as Carbo's front man in placing bets.

Bonomi suggested that Mishel and Charles Bernoff, acting for Carbo, bet $20,000 in Miami, New York, New Jersey and California on middleweight Billy Fox in a bout with Jake LaMotta in 1947.

It was Bonomi's contention that Carbo made a financial killing on this bout, which LaMotta confessed Tuesday he threw in exchange for a shot at

Dodgers Club Phils With 16 Hits, 14-2

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Dodgers tore into three Philadelphia pitchers for 16 hits and flattened the Phillies 14-2 Wednesday night behind 5-hit pitching by left-hander Sandy Koufax.

Koufax, who struck out 15 and lost in his last game against the Phillies, fanned only five and gained his second victory in 10 decisions.

Despite his poor record, Koufax has allowed only 50 hits in 73 innings this season and has held opposing hitters to a batting average of less than .200.

Duke Snider and Don Demeter each slammed a two-run homer for the Dodgers and Ken Walters hit one for the Phils with the bases empty. Frank Howard and Charlie Neal drove in three runs apiece for Los Angeles, Howard getting one by drawing a bases-loaded walk off Humberto Robinson.

The Dodgers got to loser Jim Owens (3-7) for four runs in the first. Snider accounted for two with his homer and Neal drove in two with a single.

Los Angeles had another big inning in the sixth, scoring five runs off Robinson and Ruben Gomez on three hits, an error a sacrifice and two walks.

Gene Conley Prepares To Rejoin Phil Mates

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies announced Wednesday that Gene Conley, their ace righthander, has been released from a Milwaukee hospital and will rejoin the team "As soon as he feels well enough."

John Quinn, the Phillies' general manager, said that Conley, who left the team Friday, had spent several days in a hospital because of "tired back muscles" and was now exercising at home.

PRACTICE GAME

St. Gabriel's and Coventry Brethren-St. John's of the Church league will play an exhibition game today on the West Pottsgrove school diamond at 6 o'clock.

The defending champ in the U.S. Open tourney at the Cherry Hills course in Denver, Billy Casper, takes time out to look over the course from an observation tower.

Boyertown Nine Hosts Carver Today At 6; Steelers Contest Rained Out

Pottstown's Junior American Legion Steelers will have to wait awhile for that elusive first Ches-Mont league victory.

The Steelers—who dropped three exhibition games and their first league debut—were scheduled to meet Downingtown's new entry at Enterprise field Wednesday, but all night rain forced postponement of the affair.

Also washed out was Boyertown's first home game of the year, in which the Bears were to host the Carver post nine of Reading, and the entire local card at Memorial park.

The Berks county league contest however, was rescheduled for 6 o'clock this afternoon on the New Berlinsville diamond. No dates were immediately set for the others.

BOYERTOWN PLAYERS are requested to be at the game site not later than 4:55 today.

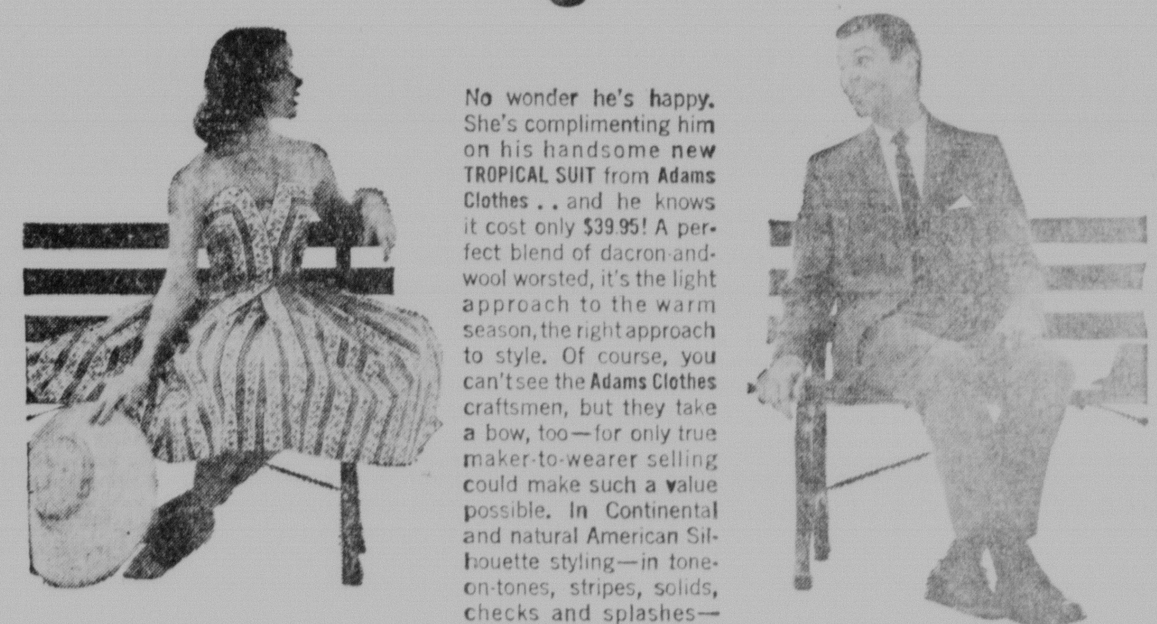

Ches-Mont league action today sends Collegeville to Phoenixville in search of its first win, and Spring City to Downingtown. Spring City and Phoenixville are currently tied for the league lead with a victory apiece in their only outings. The Steelers, who are defending league champs, are in the cellar after one game along with Collegeville. Each has lost one.

CONNIE MACK GAME

Members of the USWA 2226 Post 47 sponsored Baby Steelers are urged to report to Enterprise field not later than 5 o'clock for their game with Phoenixville.

ORTIZ BESTS LOI TO KEEP JUNIOR TITLE

Carlos Gains Unpopular Split Verdict In Frisco Bout

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Sharp punching Carlos Ortiz fought the toughest fight of his career Wednesday night to win a split decision over Italy's Duilio Loi and retain his World junior welterweight boxing title.

Loi, the rugged 31-year-old European welterweight champion, won the cheers of the Cow Palace crowd in this 140-pound championship fight that was close all the way.

The stocky Italian from Milan held a 2½ pound weight advantage at 140 to 137½ for the Puerto Rican-born champ who now lives in New York city.

As the results were announced a tremendous roar went up when Judge Matt Zidich gave the nod to Loi by a 145-143 margin. The cheers turned to jeers as referee Vern Bybee scored 145-143 for Ortiz and Judge Fred Bottaro gave it to the champion by a 148-146 margin.

* * *

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS card had Ortiz ahead by 145-143 after the 15-gruelling rounds.

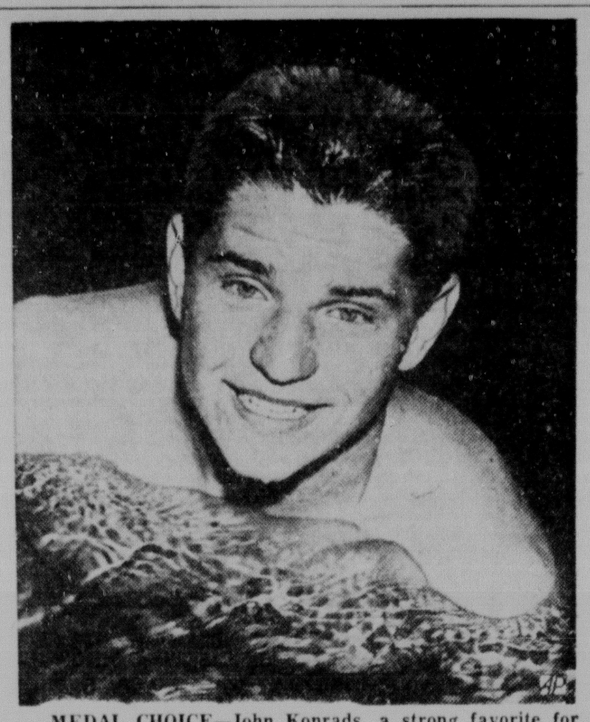

Never did Loi quit moving and his left hook to the body and chopping right to the head scored points in the furious battle.

Ortiz entered the ring a 9-5 favorite and jabbed and hooked his way to an early lead. But the experience Italian, who had lost only once in 111 professional fights dating back to 1948, began to get the range in the third and fourth rounds.

Despite the fast pace there were no knockdowns and no cuts, although both boxers showed slight puffing near the eyes.

Ortiz went down in the second round on a slip. In the ninth Loi pushed the 23-year-old New Yorker through the second rope of the ring.

The question after the 10th since he never had gone the round appeared to be whether Ortiz could keep up the fast pace 15-round distance in his career.

MEDAL CHOICE—John Konrads, a strong favorite for swim honors in the 1960 Olympics, emerges from Sydney pool after swimming a 1650-yard race in record time.

Orioles' 13-5 Victory In Nightcap Earns Twinbill Split With Indians

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles opened the flood gates in the eighth inning of the nightcap Wednesday night, scoring eight runs on six hits, a pair of walks and two errors to whip Cleveland 13-5. The Indians captured the opener of a twi-night doubleheader 10-2.

The Indians blew a 5-0 lead as Jim (Mudcat) Grant gave up a two-run homer to Gus Triandos in the seventh inning to tie it up, then fell completely apart in the wild eighth frame.

Twelve men came to the plate in the highest-scoring inning against Cleveland this season. Jim Busby chipped in with two doubles for two runs batted in, while Marv Breeding had one two-bagger and Bob Boyd, Triandos and Brooks Robinson smacked singles.

Grant's replacement, Johnny Briggs, was tagged for two singles, a sacrifice fly and a double before retiring Gene Woodling for the third out.

Ken Aspromonte made two errors — one a throwing miscue which permitted Baltimore to take a 6-5 lead. Relief pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm and Ron Hansen delivered a run apiece with sacrifice flies.

Flood HRs Pave Cards' 6-0 Win

CINCINNATI (AP) — Curtis Flood hit two home runs and rookie Ray Sadecki offset wildness by holding the Cincinnati Reds to three hits Wednesday night in a 6-0 victory by the St. Louis Cardinals.

It was the 19-year-old Sadecki's first major league victory, and the first shutout by a St. Louis pitcher.

The only hits he gave up were doubles by Billy Martin, Gus Bell and Frank Robinson but eight walks kept him in trouble much of the way. He fanned nine.

CUBS, BRAVES DIVIDE PAIR

Late Uprisings Provide Margins in Both Contests

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Chicago Cubs and the Milwaukee Braves exchanged late inning rallies Wednesday night in splitting a marathon twilight doubleheader. The Cubs exploded for six runs in a wild eighth to end the nightcap 8-5 after the Braves captured the opener 5-4 with a two-run rally in the ninth.

The Cubs, who couldn't hold a 4-3 lead after pushing across four runs in the ninth of the first game, sent 11 men to the plate in the decisive uprising which earned a share of the night's spoils.

The twinbill consumed 6 hours, 22 minutes.

Sievers Belts 2 As Sox Win, 6-4

CHICAGO (AP)—Roy Sievers hit two home runs against his former teammates Wednesday night and the Chicago White Sox defeated the Washington Senators 6-4 before 13,692 fans in rain-chilled Comiskey Park.

Sievers' homers were his fourth and fifth and drove in four runs to give the victory to Gerry Staley, third Sox pitcher. Russ Kemmerer, former Senator and Chicago starter, was knocked out in Washington's four-run sixth inning.

Washington starter Pedro Ramos, relieved Don Lee in the eighth, was the loser—his eighth against three victories. Staley is 7-2.

Fixed-Fight Winner Now Mental Patient

'Dumped' Bout Started Fox on Downgrade

NEW YORK (AP)—Former light heavyweight contender Billy Fox, who won his first 43 fights by knockouts some 15 years ago, was back in the headlines again Wednesday but he is not aware of it.

Fox also is oblivious to Jake LaMotta, who admitted to a congressional committee in Washington Tuesday that he took a "dive" in a fight with him on Nov. 14, 1947, on the promise of a shot at the middleweight championship. Fox "stopped" LaMotta in the fourth round of their fight at Madison Square garden.

His memory nearly gone, Fox, for the past month has been a mental patient in a Long Island hospital.

Before his admittance to the hospital, Fox, who won 57 of 64 fights, once fought Gus Lesnevich for the light heavyweight title, was a ward of The Bowery, seeking food and shelter wherever he could. Before that, he worked as a pinsetter and shoe shine boy in bowling alleys.

ALL THIS after earning more than a quarter of a million dollars in eight years of boxing.

Fox doesn't talk about his glory days nor the days when he fell apart. The 34-year-old Philadelphian talks hardly at all. Most of the time he just sits in his pajamas and robe and stares into space.

"He (Fox) is a sick boy," a doctor at the hospital told Jimmy Breslin, reporter with the New York Journal American. "His memory is bad. He knows he has been here about a month, but that's all. LaMotta? No, I'm afraid he wouldn't know who that is."

In the days when Fox remembered, he told a friend:

"You know where all my trouble started? With that Jake LaMotta.

"I go in there and throw punches and I think I'm doing good. But then everybody comes to me and they say he dumped the fight. I hit him on the chin and he was dumping the fight but I still couldn't knock him down.

"It had me worried. Maybe I couldn't punch like they told me I could. I never done a thing right after that.

"Once I went to Jake LaMotta and I said to him, 'Jake, did you dump the fight with me?' He just laughed."

FOX ONCE had a home, money and family. Now they're all gone. Now he has no clothes of his own.

Just 12 years ago, Blackjack Billy, as he was called, was sitting on top of the World. He had won 50 of 51 fights, all by knockouts, and he was matched with Champion Lesnevich for the light heavyweight title. That was 10 months after his kayo of LaMotta. It took the champ just one round to knock him out and burst the blackjack bubble.

It was all downhill after that. Two months later, Frank (Blinky) Palermo, his manager, sold his contract for $5000. A month after that, in June of 1948, Fox was beaten by an unknown, Agostino Guedes, in September of that year, Fox was hospitalized with a suspected brain concussion.

Despite that, he was permitted to fight soon afterward and he lost three and drew one of his next four bouts. Twice he was knocked out. After three more beatings in four outings, Fox was forced to quit the ring. His last fight ended in a four-round technical knockout by Joe Smallwood in 1950.

the middleweight crown he won two years later.

The subcommittee got lots of testimony on Carbo from New York City Detective Frank Marrone, who investigated boxing for New York Dist. Atty. Frank Hogan.

Marrone said that for the past 30 years, Carbo has controlled the boxing rackets.

"There wasn't anyone over him," Marrone testified. "There wasn't a professional fighter he didn't control, or have a piece of."

And the detective said Carbo's influence reached out to managers and fight promoters across the nation. Marrone described Carbo as friendly with everyone who was anyone in the boxing game, including James D. Norris, former president of the International Boxing Club.

While Carbo is behind bars, Marrone said, his power has been delegated to Frank (Blinky) Palermo, who himself is under indictment in California on extortion and conspiracy charges growing out of a boxing probe.

Tracing Carbo's criminal record, the New York police detective said it started when Carbo was 12 and has included 17 arrests on charges such as robbery, assault and homicide.

MALZONE BATS BOSOX TO 4-3 DETROIT WIN

Single in 10th Inning Hangs Loss On Bengals

DETROIT (AP)—Frank Malzone's third hit, a line single to right field, drove home the winning run in the 10th inning Wednesday in Boston's 4-3 triumph over the Detroit Tigers.

Pete Runnels, Ged Williams and Malzone singled in succession before Tom Morgan could retire a batter.

The victory was the first for the Red Sox since Mike Higgins returned as manager. The Sox dropped a 2-1 decision to the Tigers Tuesday night in Higgins' first game since he took over from Billy Jurges.

Malzone's safety gave the victory to Mike Fornieles, who pitched two shutout innings in relief.

The Red Sox broke on top 3-0 in the sixth inning. But they didn't have a hit off Detroit starter Don Mossi until the fifth, when they got a pair of singles with no one out, yet failed to score.

Don Buddin led off the sixth with a single. Runnels forced him at second and Williams popped out. Malzone doubled Runnels home and Ray Boone's first hit in 18-at-bats with the Red Sox—a home run over the left field screen scored two more runs.

Rocky Colavito, Detroit's slumping slugger, was ejected by plate umpire Ed Hurley in the seventh inning.

Lord's Day Alliance Tests State's Racing Law In Dauphin County Court

HARRISBURG (AP)—The language of Pennsylvania's 1959 harness racing law was analyzed at length Wednesday in arguments on the act's legality before a six-judge panel in Dauphin county court.

Representatives of the Lord's Day Alliance are challenging the constitutionality of the act. They are William P. Heuchert, Philadelphia; Foster J. Cisney, McConnellsburg, and Laurence Higley, Forksville.

During nearly two hours of argument, the court asked both sides in the case to interpret the law, particularly these questions:

(1) Can it be said that the law is prejudicial in view of a provision that at least 5,000 registered voters in a county must sign a petition to hold a referendum on whether to legalize parimutuel harness race betting?

(2) What did the legislature mean by requiring that approval in any county must be by "a majority of the electorate?"

(3) What restriction does the law put on the harness racing commission by saying "no more than one corporation can be licensed in any one year" to operate a parimutuel track?

* * *

PRESIDENT JUDGE William H. Neely said he thought the first question was important.

"I don't recall any statute that makes a geopraphical basis for distinction," he told Harry Rossi of Philadelphia, deputy attorney general on the racing commission. He asked Rossi:

"We have various laws in Pennsylvania now governing gambling. Suppose all these laws were repealed and a new one passed giving certain privileges to say, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Scranton, and not to other areas. Would that be a good law?"

Rossi replied that whereas the wisdom of such a law could possibly be questioned, its constitutionality could not be "and that is what we are asked to decide in this case." He said he interpreted the law as legalizing parimutuel betting statewide "with the additional provision that the voters in the counties approve."

NEELY SAID he couldn't see where the law, as written, legalizes harness betting on a statewide basis.

The alliance representatives contended the requirement for at least 5000 voters' names on a referendum petition violates the constitution since Cameron, Forest, Fulton and Sullivan counties have fewer than that many voters.

Rossi argued the legislature was within its rights to make such a classification "when it is a rational one."

He said the four counties couldn't economically support a harness track at this time. But he said they may increase in population in coming years and thereby qualify under the law.

Rossi contended the "majority of the electorate" means the majority of those actually voting.

Robert D. Abrahams of Philadelphia, counsel for the plaintiffs, said it meant the majority of those registered to vote.

Both cited laws they claimed backed their positions.

On the third point, Judge Walter R. Sohn asked Abrahams how long he thought a corporation could hold a license once it was issued by the commission.

"I think it is good until revoked," Abrahams replied.

"This (provision in the law) might be the foot in the door that in the future might open up the entire state to this form of gambling," Sohn suggested.

Rossi said the State's position was that no more than four licensees would be authorized by the commission at any time.

Pittsburgh Pummels Giants in 14-6 Win

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Dick Groat and Don Hoak led a 19-hit attack Wednesday as the Pirates clobbered the faltering San Francisco Giants 14-6 and widened their National League lead to three games, largest margin of the season in either major league.

Pirate Harvey Haddix won his fourth game against three losses and his 12-hitter was only the second time this season a southpaw completed a game against the Giants. Johnny Podres did it for Los Angeles on April 29.

Haddix, although he weakened in the eighth, stayed on to become only the third Pittsburgh pitcher with a complete game. Vern Law and Bob Friend are the two others.

Little Harvey helped his cause immeasurably with a double and three singles.

Groat collected four hits, Hoak three and the Pirates banged out six doubles and two triples.

The defeat marked the first time this season the Giants have lost three in a row. They now have lost 10 while winning 7 on the current Candlestick Park stand.

A crowd of 19,180 watched the Pirates pound six Giant pitchers.

The Bucs got four runs in the third after Arlando Cepeda had powered his 12th homer 425 feet over the center field fence in the second. Willie Mays hit his ninth over the 397-foot mark in left center in the eighth.

Center fielder Gino Cimoli leaped high for Cepeda's drive and his glove dropped over the fence. Roberto Clemente came over from right field and scaled a ladder over the 8-foot fence to retrieve the glove.

Shortstop Groat started the third inning rally with his second single off starter Billy O'Dell and scored on Clemente's double to center. With two out, Umpire Frank Dascoli called Clemente safe at third on Cimoli's grounder to Joe Amalfitano. Giant Manager Bill Rigney protested vigorously that Clemente ran out of the base line.

Lions Grab 13-1 Connie Mack Win Over Limerick 9

The Douglas-New Hanover Lions employed a nine-run second inning to deal Limerick a 13-1 defeat in a rain shortened Ches-Mont Connie Mack tilt on the Boyertown High diamond.

The victory was the second without loss for the Lions, who meet Spring City this evening in search of their third in a row.

Billy Specht went the route on a two-hitter to record the victory, while his mates tagged a pair of Limerick hurlers for 13 hits, and waited out six free passes.

The Lions also had a four-run inning, the fourth, and had scored five more in the bottom of the fifth, but the rain erased the outburst.

Butternut Boys Edge Diamonds by 8-7 Pad

The Butternut Boys tallied twice in the last inning to edge the Diamonds, 8-7, in softball action at Ringing Rocks park.

Butternut jumped off to a 6-0 lead in the first but needed the seventh-inning markers after the Diamonds had deadlocked the issue with singletons in the fourth and fifth and a four flurry in the sixth.

Moore Sets Eyes On 2d Hatfield Victory in Week

Stock car racing's old pro, Harry Moore, is up to his familiar tricks.

Moore, a parcel post deliveryman in Pottstown, zoomed into the All-Star Racing club's point lead with a feature victory at Hatfield speedway last Saturday evening, leading many observers to comment he is on his way to regaining the coveted racing crown.

Driving for owner Wayne Karl, Limerick, Moore placed third in his two previous outings on Hatfield's third-mile clay course.

Seeking to stem the Moore tide when action returns to the Montgomery county oval this Saturday, 8 p. m., will be a formidable 40-car field headed by Tommy Sheetz, Warren Mutter, Eddy Horn, Dick Havens, Tony Volz, George Sleight, Jack Rudy and others.

* * *

GEORGE DILWORTH, North Wales, is the current Bell Racing Club sensation with two straight feature triumphs in the strictly stock division.

Dilworth also will be opposed by a large field led by Johnny Bright, Bobby Brack, Bill Moore, George Rounsavill, Dick and Bob Wilkie, Blaine Sadler, Walt Murphy, Willard Buehrle and a host of others.

Both All-Star modifieds and Bell Club strictly stocks will appear in the racing twinbill.

The commencement program will begin with the familiar "Pomp and Circumstance," by the school orchestra, followed by invocation by the Rev. Victor L. Cappel, pastor of Trinity Evangelical Congregational church, Royersford.

A trumpet solo by Judy Wadsworth will precede the theme, followed by a vocal ensemble.

State Says Okay To $68,000 Bid

Spring-Ford Joint school committee heard official report at its monthly meeting Wednesday night that the Spring-Ford School authority had received State approval of a base bid totaling $68,000 for grading work at the proposed new athletic field adjoining the Senior High school.

The bid had been submitted by Hugh Boyd, incorporated, West Conshohocken.

This report automatically cleared the way for the Joint committee to award contracts for three other phases of the work, for which bids were accepted by the joint committee June 1.

Teachers whose resignations were accepted were:

Harry J. Culbertson, teacher of the ungraded class in the New street Junior High school, and Raymond Cummings, elementary music instructor, who also guided the Summer music program.

The resigned secretary was Mrs. Mary Latshaw, New street Junior High school. To replace Mrs. Latshaw, the committee elected Adelaide Vandegrift, a member of the graduating class.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

"I GUESS we're going to have to eat out tonight," a gastronome told his friend. "My wife just phoned to tell me our dinner had been badly burned."

"I hope you didn't lose anything else in the fire," said the friend.

"Oh, the fire wasn't at our house," explained the gastronome. "It was at the delicatessen shop."

No conformist is Dame Edith Sitwell, seasoned English poet and bellwether of London literati. "The reason I am called eccentric," she explains carefully, "is that I refuse to be taught my job by a lot of pipsqueak literary critics and lecture managers. I will not allow people to bore me. I am more alive than most. I am an electric eel in a pond full of flatfish."

MYSTERY MAN—Francis Parker Yockey, 47, is under arrest in San Francisco after a misplaced suitcase led to discovery of three passports in different names. The credentials had been used in Germany, England and Belgium. Yockey was held in $50,000 bail on Federal charges of passport fraud. Officials would only say he was a man in whom they were "very, very interested."

Youths Arrested For Stock Theft

NEW YORK (AP) — Three youths who grew up worldly wise on Manhattan's Lower East Side were arrested Wednesday in the theft of $250,000 in stocks from a big-name brokerage house.

But Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan said 80 per cent of the profits were taken by two men who acted as fences and also were arrested.

Another three men are being sought as fronts who helped sell the securities to legitimate brokers who did not know they were stolen.

Some speculators leave stock with brokers, for convenience when they want to sell again.

Hogan said Norman Mais, 22, a $65-a-week clerk for Bache & Co., registered such stocks under fictitious names and that he enlisted a fellow clerk, Henry Goldfarb, 22, to take the stock out of the office.

Mais and Goldfarb then got Sol Seidner, 22, an unemployed bank clerk, to get a fence, Hogan continued.

Seidner brought in Morris Yudelowitz, 40, a trucking firm foreman, and the latter called in as a companion fence Jerome J. Kurtz, a Newark, N.J., real estate broker, Hogan added.

Hogan said Mais netted only $25,000 of which $16,400 was recovered. He added that Goldfarb's cut was only $2,000 and that Seidner got $10,000.

Neither the brokers, who bought the stolen stock, nor the original owners stand to lose, since the stocks were insured.

Radiation Level Drops in Streams

HARRISBURG, (AP)—The State health department Wednesday said there has been a reduction in the level of radiation in Pennsylvania streams since nuclear bomb tests were halted.

Walter A Lyon, director of the department's sanitary engineering division, reported that radioactive contamination is "well below the maximum levels recommended by the national committee for radiation protection."

"The greatest amount of radioactivity found in our streams during the past few years has been a result of fallout from nuclear tests, Lyon said.

Radioactive materials used in production of power for industry, medicine and research, he added, have resulted in very small amounts of contamination.

BARGAIN PURCHASE

LOUGHTON, England (AP)—Organizers of a charity jumble sale here are looking for a girl who bought a tin box for a penny. Later the organizers found the box was being used to hold banknotes taken in by the sellers. Contents when sold: three pounds—$8.40.

Bullfighter Cleared

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa (AP) — Would-be toreador Daniel Grundling, 26, who staged a mock bullfight with real bulls last year, has been cleared of a charge of cruelty to animals in South Africa's first and only go at the Spanish spectacle. Noting it was bloodless, the magistrate freed him with the comment that some other "so-called sports" such as steeplechasing, fox-hunting and rugby are more cruel than his bullfight.

Market Irregularities Fail To Dampen Hope for Advance

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market's irregular milling so far this week failed to dampen some Wall Street observers' optimism about a renewed advance.

They feel the market is entitled to a rest after last week's steep climb and is consolidating for an assault on the year's high.

The peak of 685.47 on the Dow Jones industrial average was balanced on Jan. 5.

Alan C. Poole of Hemphill, Noyes & Co. said the market's recent action suggests the industrial average will reach its old high and that the momentum of the summer rise will drive it well over 700.

Poole points out that in every presidential election year since World War II the market declined from a January high and later recovered approximately twice its loss.

"In 1960, although the decline from 685 to 599, or 12.5 per cent, was more severe than in previous postwar presidential election years, a recovery of proportions comparable to previous recoveries appears reasonable," Poole said.

Martin Gilbert of Van Alstyne, Noel & Co. commented that the market apparently is consolidating its recent gains and it seems doubtful that the selling will gain any momentum.

"Actually," he said, "it is more likely that a base will be established at or near current levels from which the next phase of the recovery movement will begin."

The financial publishing house, Prentice-Hall, says the Federal Reserve system's gradual relaxation of credit controls, capped by the discount rate reduction, "may have come in time to forestall a big recession."

The firm sees an early improvement in the housing industry with a resultant buoying effect throughout the economy.

"But relative lags in other areas—particularly in consumer spending on durables other than new cars and new plant and equipment—won't be overcome by easier money alone," Prentice-Hall believes. "Nor will the mounting impact of foreign competition. Such competition will be a decisive business force of the 1960s.

"We look for increased political pressures for a faster U.S. economic growth to help overcome these difficulties — especially so long as forward trend indicators continue to warn of a production lag ahead."

Two Cars Collide

Two cars collided Wednesday at King and Manatawny streets.

Donald Terwilliger, 326 Beech street, was driving west on King street when his auto was struck by a vehicle driven by Douglas M. Hipple, Pottstown Route 18.

Hipple told police that he lost control of his car and then skidded into the Terwilliger auto at 7:45 a. m.

PARKED CAR HIT

Paul G. Frisco, 896 South street, was driving on North Franklin street Wednesday when his auto hit a parked car owned by Raymond D. Gofus, 507 East Race street, Stowe. Frisco told police he lost control of his auto in the 3:35 p. m. mishap.

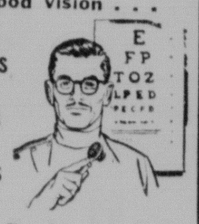

DRIVER INJURED

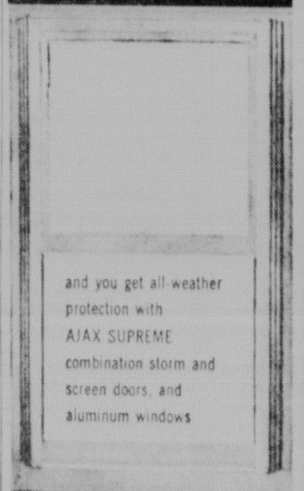

Mrs. Robert Rogers, 957 Hale street, injured her nose Wednesday after her car ran off Route 83, near Spring City. Mrs. Rogers, 32, hit her face against a steering wheel when her car slammed into a ditch. She was treated at Pottstown hospital and was discharged.
